R.F.C. Chairman Asserts
Railroads, Real Estate and Unemployment Are Greatest Problems Today

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 12.—(UP)—President Roosevelt and two of his New Deal administrators informed American bankers today that the depression is over and it is time for them to take up the slack.

The President's message was read to the first annual meeting of the American Bankers' Association. Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and Leo T. Crowley, chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, delivered their messages in person to 4,000 bankers gathered here.

The bankers made it plain they were worried about the government's interference in the money lending business. Rudolf S. Hecht, retiring president of the bankers' association, said one of the paramount economic questions of the day was "the extent to which the government shall remain in the banking business."

Jones said: "I am as anxious as any man here that the government get out as soon as possible." The time has come, he said, when bankers should make a courageous effort to substitute private for government credit.

F. D. R. Gratified.

Jones read the message from President Roosevelt, who wrote: "I am gratified, and I am sure every member of the American Bankers' Association is gratified, to know that all banks are now in a strong position, and I hope they will take full advantage of the new banking act and provide credit, when it can be done upon a sound basis, to business and industry and to real estate."

Jones said the three problems now were railroads, real estate and unemployment.

Railroads must consolidate, because with the development of other forms of transportation, the country cannot support all railroad mileage, he said.

Real estate, he added, is the basis of all wealth and bankers should not condemn real estate loans.

"Unemployment also is your problem. We can continue to let the government shoulder the responsibility, but let's not fool ourselves by thinking that we will escape the ultimate cost. The more we lean upon the government, the more the government must, in turn, lean upon us."

8-Point Program.

Crowley said the FDIC, through which the government insures deposits in member banks up to $5,000, was no cure-all. He gave an 8-point program to "assist in eliminating the conditions which have caused so much grief."

1. Restriction of postal savings to bankless communities.
2. Replacement of RFC with local capital.
3. Efficient management of banks.
4. More good insured banks with eventual smaller premiums.
5. Elimination of the causes for state intervention.
6. Substitution of private for government credit.
7. Bankers' voice in FDIC management.
8. More participation by the public.

Jones stressed the plight of railroads.

F. D. R. Proclaims Thanksgiving Day

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Peaceful relations of the United States and a "closer fellowship" among individuals were cited by President Roosevelt today in proclaiming November 28 the annual day of thanksgiving.

By noting that "war and strife still live in the world," the President said America "by example and in practice" must "help bind the wounds of others, against disorder and aggression, encourage the lessening of distress among peoples and advance peaceful trade and friendship."

Mr. Roosevelt always observes Thanksgiving Day with his family. A few years ago, he will go again to his Warm Springs (Ga.) home for the day.

The President plans to leave Washington for Georgia in about a week. He likely will remain there until early in December.

On the day following Thanksgiving he will go to Atlanta to participate in a welcome home celebration by the people of Georgia.

TALMADGE DENIES LEGISLATIVE CALL

Stands by Decision Not To Summon Legislators for Appropriations Bill.

Despite circulated reports to the contrary, Governor Talmadge is standing by his previously announced decision not to call a special session of the General Assembly to pass an appropriations act; The Constitution learned yesterday.

In recent weeks a large number of representative citizens have put "pressure" on the Governor to call the session, but to all of them he has turned a deaf ear. In a number of speeches the Governor said without equivocation that he would not call the session. Questioned yesterday regarding the most recent published reports anent the extra session, the Governor replied:

"That's the first I've heard of it."

For some time it has been understood that the Governor plans to operate the state without an appropriations act, but just how has not been learned. The Governor has kept his own counsel and has only smiled when those seeking the session have pointed out to him that chaos likely will result from an attempt to operate under martial law.

Although the Governor's public and private statements regarding the session have been few and far between and decidedly brief a study of the laws of transportation, the country cannot support all railroad mileage, he said.

Real estate, he added, is the basis of all wealth and bankers should not condemn real estate loans.

"Unemployment also is your problem. We can continue to let the government shoulder the responsibility, but let's not fool ourselves by thinking that we will escape the ultimate cost. The more we lean upon the government, the more the government must, in turn, lean upon us."

50 ARE RESCUED FROM FREIGHTER; 2 DEAD, 2 MISSING

Workers Brave Raging
Seas and Winds To Save
Passengers, Crew of Ill-
Fated Pacific Steamer.

MANILA, Nov. 13.—(Wednesday.)—A toll of two dead and two missing was reported in radio flashes today from rescuers at the wrecked freighter Silverhazel along with word the 50 others aboard the craft had been saved after a four-day battle in raging waters.

The dead were reported as Mrs. Neil Williams, one of four women passengers, and an apprentice seaman named McPherson, 18.

The master of the Silverhazel, Captain H. A. Lennard, and an unidentified crew member were reported missing.

All the rescued were aboard the United States destroyer Peary which was due in Manila at daylight Thursday.

The remaining passengers, Mr. and Mrs. George Bissinger, San Francisco, and two Los Angeles women, Mrs. C. C. Windham and Mrs. N. H. Zerling, were mentioned in the radio dispatches as saved.

Fight Elements.

A terrific battle with the elements ensued before the actual rescue was accomplished. For hours it appeared that many of the crew were doomed. Plans were made to have a flotilla of army airplanes drop food, supplies and necessities to the imperiled seamen and passengers. Many acts of heroism were performed before the passengers and crew were, by sheer force, wrestled from what appeared to be certain death.

Rescue of the survivors was accomplished in San Bernardino straits, 250 miles by boat south of here, where the Silverhazel crashed Sunday en route here from San Francisco. The British freighter was cut in two when it struck the rocks, sending it to the bottom.

FLORIDA PLANNING ROOSEVELT 'CADE'

Scholtz To Lead Group
Here for Home-coming
Celebration on Nov. 29.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Nov. 12.—(AP)—A Florida motorcade to Atlanta for President Roosevelt's "home-coming" November 29 was announced today by Governor Scholtz, who will lead it into the Georgia capital.

J. B. Hodges, of Lake City, chairman of the Florida democratic executive committee, was named by the Governor to lead the motorcade and arrange seating for the Floridians in the Atlanta stadium where the President is to speak.

R. F. Mizell, state motor vehicle commissioner, and Vivian B. Collins, state adjutant general, will serve with Hodges.

Governor Scholtz said the motorcade would leave Tallahassee at 6 a. m. on November 29, arriving in Atlanta about noon. The President is to speak at 1 o'clock. Floridians who go to Atlanta by other routes will be asked to assemble at some designated place so they may go to the stadium with the motorcade party.

Neighboring states will be well represented at the Roosevelt "home-coming" with the announcement of Governor Scholtz that Floridians will join in the tribute to the President.

Governor Olin D. Johnston of South Carolina, has already asked for reservations in Grant field, announcing that he would lead a motorcade of his state to honor the President and his southern campaign here while Georgians pay tribute to the national leader.

The motorcades led by the two governors will join citizens of the cities of Georgia, all with one objective: Grant field. The largest crowds in the history of the state are expected in Atlanta that day.

Pilot Saves 3, Ship, Collapses and Dies

BAKERSFIELD, Cal., Nov. 12.—(UP)—Fighting a falling heart in mid-air, Captain Donald Buckman, 34-year-old army pilot, raced 100 miles against death tonight to bring to safety three passengers in a transport plane.

Captain Buckman, air service supply officer stationed at March field, Riverside, Cal., died a few minutes after he landed his plane. Physicians said death was due to heart disease and that he suffered an attack while in the air.

Captain Buckman, stocky, heavy-set and his face twisted with pain, stepped out of the plane and collapsed in the arms of airfield attendants.

"Talmadge Must Speak for Self"—Johnson

Governor Talmadge, left, introduced General Hugh S. Johnson last night at the Wesley Memorial auditorium and heard him flay the old deal of Coolidge and Hoover and certain phases, especially "the Rex Tugwell group" of the New Deal. Asked by one of the audience how he thought the country would do under Governor Talmadge, Johnson said, smiling, "He can answer that better than anyone else. I started out with Franklin D. Roosevelt and I am going on through with him." Photo by Turner Hiers. Story in Page 5.

CITY, COUNTY PACT FIXES SEWER COST

Fulton To Give $350,000
by Providing Rock, Sand for $6,000,000 Program.

Fulton county will contribute approximately $350,000 to the $6,000,000 metropolitan sewer program, according to an agreement reached yesterday afternoon between Commissioner E. L. Almond, chairman of the public works, and the city council sewer committee.

The city commission will meet in special session this morning to ratify the plan whereby Fulton will furnish and haul all the rock and sand needed for the entire sewer project as its share.

It was estimated that it will cost the county about $350,000 to do this, although the city had requested the county to contribute $525,000 as its part.

County Sanitary Engineer George Newton announced yesterday morning at a meeting to supply and haul the materials as rapidly as they will be needed on the various projects was expressed yesterday by W. A. Hansell, assistant city engineer, in charge of sewers. However, county officials were confident that enough trucks and conveyances could be provided.

Under the provisions of the plan adopted by the sewer committee of council and Commissioner Almond, Buckhead, East Point, Shadow Lake and Lakewood areas will benefit from the sewer program.

The city had issued an ultimatum to the county that the sewer systems of these suburbs would not be completed until the metropolitan system unless the county agreed to contribute funds.

Major Clark Howell Jr., general manager of The Constitution appeared before the county board yesterday morning to urge the commissioners to make some arrangement with the city immediately in order that the outlying suburbs might receive the benefit of the modern sewers and disposal plants.

Few Crashes in Atlanta Reported Despite Heavy Rains of Yesterday

As yesterday's rain impressed upon all motorists the absolute necessity of utmost care in driving, the lessons of the campaign conducted by the Safety Council of the Constitution showed tangible result in remarkably few traffic accidents for such weather. The little red honor stickers, on windshields and rear windows of many cars, testified to the pledge the drivers had signed to observe the rules of safety and the feeling of security which the stickers brought to others more than repaid all the effort that has been expended on the campaign.

Interesting developments of the day were led by a letter from the Exchange Club of Cedartown, through its president, C. W. Peck Jr.

MOTORCADE TO GO IN RAIN OR SHINE ON RIGID SCHEDULE

Time Table Laid Out Allows Little Delay in Trip Over New Highway; Cooperation Is Required.

Rain yesterday made little difference in the enthusiasm being evinced in the big motorcade of Friday, just as it will make no difference in the running of the 'cade when the hour of departure arrives. Everyone knows that, when it rains in Atlanta, it is just as apt as not to be dry 50 miles down the highway.

Schedule for the entire run of the 'cade from Atlanta to Savannah was finally worked out and sent to all registrants yesterday. This time table will be rigidly adhered to and everyone is warned by the directors that their co-operation is depended upon to assure that there shall be no delay. Arrival in Savannah is set for 7 o'clock Friday evening and the buffet supper which will be served all members of the motorcade party and which will officially open the elaborate program of entertainment in the port city will be ready at that hour.

Assembling on the Washington street viaduct, with the lead car at the corner of Washington and Hunter and others, in their proper numerical position behind, the motorcade will start promptly at 8 o'clock Friday morning. Assembly has been set for 7:30 o'clock so that everyone will be ready at the leaving hour, when the motorcade sirens signal the order to start.

Edgewood Approach.

Incidentally, all cars are asked to approach the viaduct from the Edgewood avenue side so there will be no unnecessary turning of cars with the consequent confusion.

The 'cade is due to arrive in Milledgeville at 12 o'clock.

WOMAN, 31, ADMITS SLAYING FIANCE

Pretty Blonde Secretary Declares She Was Engaged to Industrialist.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—(AP)—A pretty ash blond secretary was charged tonight with slaying Dr. Fritz Gebhardt, 43, well-to-do German industrialist and political economist, early today.

Dr. Gebhardt, who had a wife and two children in Germany, was shot four times in his tower apartment overlooking the East river. He died almost instantly.

Shortly after his body, clad in an old-fashioned night shirt, was found in his bedroom. Miss Vera Streitz, 31, was discovered weeping bitterly on a third floor fire escape.

"Yes, I did it," police quoted her as saying.

The officers declared she told them she had been engaged to Dr. Gebhardt. In handing her they said they found a diamond ring, a .32 calibre revolver with four empty shells, and a stained silk night gown. She was dressed for the street.

Throughout the day's questioning, Miss Streitz refused to repeat the alleged confession or supply a possible motive. She was held without bail on a suspicion of homicide charge.

Excess of the girl's room, two floors below Dr. Gebhardt's apartment in the same building, yielded a letter dated Sunday directing that her belongings be taken to two girls' names, undelivered.

Attached to the will, police said.

Cobb Says: Actors Wear Long Whiskers

By IRVIN S. COBB.

(Copyright, 1935, by North American News.)

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Nov. 12. If you've been to movieland, you've seen our fun-bearing hermits. As true recluses, these gentlemen have the innate desire to avoid being conspicuous which is ever characteristic of Hollywood. So they march the principal streets all day, with their long hair and their ditto whiskers waving in the climate, and wearing as few clothes as the law allows—and out here we allow few indeed.

"There is a single member of the group who's different. He's just as woolly as the others, but he doesn't parade up and down. Nor will he tell you his name or the address of his cave, or where he came from or where he's going. Some think he has a secret past. But I think he has a great ambition."

It's my idea he wants to go down in history as the one who was not commiserated a colonel on the staff of the Governor of Kentucky. Probably the poor chap hasn't a chance. So few escape it!

LONDON—Britain is reported unimpressed by Italian protest and plans to go ahead with sanctions, expecting other nations to do likewise.

GERMANY ORDERS EXPORTS EMBARGO

New Decree Termed Due to Nation's Grave International Economic Situation.

BERLIN, Nov. 12.—(UP)—The German government tonight laid an embargo upon export of principal raw materials to any nation.

The embargo list resembles closely the list of key products 52 members of the League of Nations will refuse to export to Italy beginning November 18, in an effort to halt the Italo-Ethiopian war.

Officials explained the decree was due entirely to Germany's internal economic situation, but its effect will be to prevent Italy obtaining from Germany the materials refused by the League.

The decree mentions no country specifically. Officials said it was necessary that Germany conserve her resources for her own advancement. Shortly after the outbreak of the war between Italy and Ethiopia the government forbade shipment of arms to Italy and the German munitions factories working night and day might devote their full time to rearming Germany.

Foodstuffs Banned.

The embargo is a significant move. Premier Benito Mussolini, of Italy, had hoped Germany would supply Italy with the key products barred by 52 League of Nations members.

The official German news agency said the decree forbids export of foodstuffs and raw materials, including fats for human consumption, oil, potatoes, textiles, iron, ferrous metals, rubber and hides. Export of copper and coal for a long time has been subject to supervision.

Much margarine has been removed from the German market for export. The potato harvest this year is unusually small, making export undesirable.

As regards the other raw materials on the list, Germany depends upon imports from foreign countries and depletion of home stocks must be lowered in view of rising world-wide prices.

Hopes Crushed.

This appears to crush Italian hopes that Germany would act as middleman to defeat the League's trade penalties, importing vast surpluses from foreign countries and re-exporting them through Austria to Italy.

The embargo is described as provisional and effective November 16. Diplomats received news of the embargo with interest in the light of recent official denial that Germany had pledged to the League that it would not undercut sanctions by increasing her exports to Italy.

The official explanation—that Germany needs to conserve her resources—was accepted in good faith. However, diplomats pointed out the effect, regardless of motivation, is to bar the League from the use of economic pressure.

the Immediate Future.

By The Associated Press.

Ethiopia's foot-soldiers were reported victorious over Italian tanks and machine guns Tuesday in a bloody battle on the southern front.

An official announcement at Addis Ababa said the warriors of Emperor Haile Selassie, despite murderous fascist fire, defeated the invaders at Anele, Ogaaden province.

Losses were described as heavy on both sides, with the field of battle littered with dead. Four tanks were captured, it was announced, and Ethiopia was victorious in another engagement in the same region, killing many Italian soldiers and taking six trucks.

The same communique told of a success on the northern front. Warriors, it asserted, attacked a superior Italian force and killed the commander and a large number of soldiers.

BLOODY OGAADEN VICTORY CLAIMED BY DEFENDERS.

ADDIS ABABA, Nov. 12.—(AP)—A bloody Ethiopian victory on the southern front, won at a heavy cost of lives to both sides, was officially claimed today by the government.

It was a fight of age-old infantry against modern tank and machine gun units of the fascist invaders, the communique said, and the former won. Despite a withering Italian fire, the announcement asserted, the tribesmen of Emperor Haile Selassie captured four Italian tanks in desperate fighting at Anele, Ogaaden province.

The battlefield was strewn with the dead of both armies, the announcement said.

Ethiopia also claimed success in another clash in the same region. The government said its warriors killed six Italian officers and a number of soldiers, with the remainder fleeing in panic, and captured six trucks.

The same communique reported a victory on the northern front. Commander Gabre Heyot, the communique continued, attacked a vastly superior Italian unit, killing the commander and a large number of soldiers and dispersing the enemy in disorder.

Ethiopians suffered eight killed and the Italians many more, it was stated, and "the conduct of the Ethiopian troops was beyond all praise."

1935 PROVED KINDLY TO SOUTHERN FARMER

sons in recent years with large yields. I'm optimistic over the 1936 outlook."

Arkansas.
C. C. Randall, acting assistant extension director of the University of Arkansas College of Agriculture:
"Arkansas farmers are in the most favorable position they have been in in recent years. With benefit payments, the 1935 cotton crop will exceed the value of last year's crop by nearly $3,000,000. A better 1936 is expected."

Tennessee.
Tennessee's Commissioner, O. E. Van Cleave:
"Prosperity on the farm is indicated in an increased interest this year in the state and county fairs. Farmers are buying more and are in better financial condition than in many years. Next year should be even better."

South Carolina.
South Carolina's agriculture authorities said strides were made during the year in diversification, increased dairying, livestock and poultry raising and her crops were reported in excellent condition. The 1936 outlook is promising, they said.

Louisiana.
"The farm situation is pretty good this year," said Harry Wilson, Louisiana's commissioner of agriculture, "because crops were fair and prices fair. There was an increase in crop values which should continue."

Florida.
Nathan Mayo, Florida's commissioner:
"Reports indicate citrus groves are recovering from damage caused by last season's freeze. The general agricultural outlook is better than it was a year ago, with firming prices for citrus and prospects for a crop of about 20,000,000 boxes."

They haven't bought a pound of lard for 47 years. The hogs furnish that.

Nor flour. Home-grown corn provides meal.

'Give a Little More' Slogan Spurs Organization Workers for Chest

The slogan, "Give a little more than last year," guided hundreds of Atlanta's leading men and women yesterday as organizers of the far-flung volunteer army of Community Chest workers neared completion for the start of the 13th annual campaign Monday.

Mrs. Norman Sharp, director of the neighborhood division that will have charge of the campaign in the residential area, announced the completion of her division.

Four outstanding Atlanta women were named to supervise the work of the division in the four sections of the city.

These include Mrs. R. L. Ramsey, Mrs. Ben Parker, Mrs. I. F. Sterne and Mrs. Philip M. Graves.

All those women are prominent in social and civic work and have organized a strong force of assistants.

Advisory Board.
Mrs. Sharp and Mrs. R. Murdoch Walker, assistant director, are assisted in their work by an advisory board consisting of Mrs. E. V. Carter, chairman, Mrs. Preston S. Arkwright, Sr., Mrs. Oscar Palmour, Mrs. George Ripley, Mrs. Calvin Prescott and Mrs. S. F. Boykin.

Workers in the central division, which will conduct the campaign in the downtown business area, met yesterday afternoon with Hurd J. Crain, director, for the final details of organization. This division has one of the most detailed jobs of the campaign.

"Our sights are set on general increases in individual gifts," Mr. Crain said.

which will be constructed under PWA and WPA supervision.

City to Provide $1,000,000.
The two federal agencies have contributed about $4,500,000 for the sewers and the city has raised $1,000,000 for the purpose by a bond issue.

Fulton county's arrangement in the matter involves no cash outlay at all.

Dr. Charles Ross Adams, chairman of the board, Commissioner George F. Longino and Commissioner Almond were present at the special meeting yesterday and it was understood that they and Commissioner J. A. Ragsdale will attend this morning to vote on the plan made yesterday by Almond.

The sewer project, which is headed by Alderman Frank Reynolds, Commissioner Edwin F. Johnson, leader of the majority faction of the county board, at his Sea Island Beach home and will be presented although he was notified of the special meeting by County Clerk Frank R. Flinn.

Work on the sewer program has already begun. The WPA having put more than 600 men to work a week or so ago.

Now that the county has joined in the program, the projects will be speeded and hundreds of additional laborers will be employed immediately.

Definite specifications are being made for the sewer lines and disposal plants by engineers for the districts in the metropolitan area, but which lie outside the city limits. Exact location of the sewer lines will be determined by the county board.

ETHIOPIANS PREPARE FOR OFFENSIVE THRUST
ITALIAN GENERAL HEADQUARTERS ON THE NORTHERN FRONT, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Italian scouts reported tonight that a quarter of a million Ethiopian warriors will attempt to throw back the advance of Italy's armies from northern Ethiopia.

In addition, there are Ethiopian reserves totaling 300,000 and 400,000 "destined to reinforce sectors under attack and to produce an encircling movement," said an Italian report.

It was stated 177,000 men, in four separate forces, would oppose the southward progress of General Emilio de Bono's northern army, preparing to push toward Harar province, through which runs the important railroad between Addis Ababa and Djibouti, French Somaliland.

Strong Forces in Area.
The Ethiopians in the north were said to be divided under Ras Seyoum, with 50,000; Ras Kassa, 70,000; and Ras Imru, 50,000, while Emperor Haile Selassie's imperial guard was said to consist of 7,000.

There were 40,000 soldiers reported in the eastern sector, while 20,000 were described as being under the governor of Harar.

Both northern and southern Italian armies are aiming for Harar province, in which Ethiopia's second most important city, Harar, and the strategic railroad town of Direwada are situated.

The general headquarters report said the Italian troops had "baffled the adversary" by an unexpected advance toward "unforeseen objectives."

"Finding it impossible to construct a new plan of war according to the tactical necessities produced by recent developments," said the report, "the enemy army is completely unprepared to meet our action and is compelled to retire toward the regions in the south."

Force Moves to Makale.
(The following dispatch was received from Asmara, Eritrea).
The Silva division of Italian troops marched today toward Makale to strengthen the front line. The division passed Edaga Hamus, about 15 miles southeast of Adigrat, while 2,000 camels were being brought up along with trucks carrying munitions and supplies.

The movement, made in heavy rains, was doing great damage to recently constructed roads, which had become soggy with mud and water.

The roads south of Adigrat were

FEDERAL AID SOUGHT FOR ARCHITECT FEES

Gilliam, Brewer Instructed by Board of Education To Present Plea.

Mayor Pro Tem, Ed A. Gilliam and Ernest J. Brewer, president of the Atlanta board of education, were instructed yesterday by the board to proceed to Washington with a view of obtaining federal aid for architectural services on the $300,000 school construction program and also to attempt to get federal officials to accept WPA applications for Murphy and Muddie Junior High schools.

The board held in abeyance a proposal to establish a $15,000 fund for architectural services on the school program pending results of the Washington trip.

Thus a delay in the program was voted although the board is subject to a special call as soon as it is determined whether additional federal assistance may be procured.

Among other major matters which faced the board were:

Powell to Resign.
1. Announcement by George W. Powell, thirteenth ward commissioner and former board president, that he will retire shortly. It was anticipated that his resignation will be filed before the board meets.

Election of Miss Lola Dunwoody as principal of Spring Street school and Mrs. Richard Jones as principal of East Lake.

2. Election of a committee of three, with Brewer as head, to assist in the official welcoming of President Roosevelt to Atlanta on November 20. Being named were other members at a later date.

3. Heard Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of schools, urge reduction of the salary cuts now in force against school employees. Sutton told board members that his contacts with other large systems showed that reductions have been reduced to eight per cent in all except two systems. He also recommended restoration of the automatic increments.

Repairs Are Sought.
4. Referred to the building and grounds committee of architects and engineers for repairs to about 40 various schools, with a view of beginning that work as soon as possible through WPA assistance.

5. Passed resolutions thanking the Trust Company of Georgia for absorbing scrip which will be issued for November and December salaries for school employees.

6. Passed resolutions of regret at the recent death of Thomas C. Erwin, school treasurer.

7. Refused a request by George S. Lowman, eighth ward commissioner, for a personnel survey of the school system. Lowman has repeated his demand at every recent session.

8. Sent back to the salary adjustment committee for additional study a proposal to increase the salaries of five employees of the system.

The decision to appeal to Washington for architectural aid probably means that the compromise move initiated by the buildings and grounds and federal aid committees will not be under consideration.

Under the compromise program, $5,000 left from the undedicated balance of the $275,000 school bond issue was to have been set up for architects, and $5,000 more to be taken from the respective $25,000 set up for Maddox and Murphy Junior High schools.

During the day the board commission recommended retention of architects and that the board prosecute all 15 of the original projects and that the commitment of the board relative to the sewer lines will follow.

BATTLE OF GORAHAI HERO IS HONORED
Native Gives Left Arm Fighting To Save Country.

By LAURENCE STALLINGS.
HARAR, Ethiopia, Nov. 12.—(By Wireless).—While the world observed two minutes of silence on Armistice Day, Harar was also hushed for a very special reason—Abde Wolde Johanne, hero of the battle of Gorahai, died.

Abde Wolde Johanne, a 36-year-old Amharic captain of infantry, the first to lead his men into the battle from the south, gave his left arm to save his country's cause.

Johannes was wounded in the fighting at Gorahai, a fortified town captured by the Italians a few days ago.

"Fearful of the strange horrors of the battle," he said, "I prayed for the Lord's blessing on the surgery that was to sever his gangrenous arm."

The soldier's remaining relatives, watching through open windows, were silenced by the pungent stench of the anesthetic, so foreign to their nostrils.

Later, reports received from the south caused much jubilation throughout Harar. It was said that Italian patrols sent out from Gorahai had been caught within their own barrage, which inflicted many injuries and forced the patrols' retirement.

Meanwhile, guards armed with bayonets surrounded the Red Cross stations here, forbidding the townspeople to talk with the wounded, as the Ethiopian leaders are fearful of the effect of the injured soldiers' tales about the Italians' hitting power.

MISTRIAL DECLARED IN SUNDAY DANCING
CHARLESTON, S. C., Nov. 12.—(AP)—A mistrial resulted in magistrate's court today in the case of two women charged with violating the state's law against Sunday dancing. The jury was discharged after 45 minutes' deliberation.

Magistrate John R. Stall announced the case would be tried again within two weeks.

Miss Lillian Carter, proprietor of a roadhouse near here, and Mrs. Gladys Reynolds, a patron, were the defendants. They were alleged to have violated the law by dancing after last Saturday midnight.

Twenty-eight patrons were arrested in the case, but officers dropped charges against 12, and 10 others forfeited bonds of $5 each. The five remaining continue.

COLUMBUS CITIZEN MAY HEAD FLORISTS
KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 12.—(AP)—Although W. E. Joy, of Columbus, Ga., is president of the Southeastern Florists' Association today without opposition, two sets of candidates were nominated for officers—one by a nominating committee and the other from the convention floor.

DROP IN TEMPERATURE FORECAST FOR TODAY
Slightly colder weather today, accompanied by intermittent rain, will follow yesterday's oversupply of precipitation. Forecaster George W. Mindling said yesterday.

The rain today will not compare with that of yesterday but the temperatures will be lower, the observer said. Yesterday's range was between 51 and 64 degrees, while today's low will be around 48 degrees and the high around 60. The scheduled cold wave has been delayed for several days, it was said.

Mussolini Warns League Boycott May Force Italy To Quit Geneva

Duce Brands Trade Restriction as "True Act of Hostility," Nations Asked To Give Information on Sanctions Application.

ROME, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Italy served notice upon the world today that sanctions might drive her from the League of Nations.

In a formal note of protest to all sanctionist countries, the government branded the ban on imports from Italy a "true act of hostility."

The document, coupled with a declaration that "until now" Italy had refused to leave Geneva requested information from each of the member nations on the manner in which sanctions would be applied.

Responsible sources said this clearly indicated Italy might leave the League should the application of sanctions be "too hostile." Whether or not she does so, these sources asserted, she has clearly indicated that she will hold sanctionist countries "individually responsible" for the actions against her under the League aegis.

San Peace Talks Go On.
Premier Mussolini and Sir Eric Drummond, the British ambassador, conferred for half an hour today on the Mediterranean situation. The talks were understood to be progressing satisfactorily, but officially there were no details.

Italy's note warned each sanctionist nation of the "moral and psychological consequences" of sanctions and stated they would prolong the "world's economic discord."

Rome's request for a reply recalled that the fascist grand council is to meet November 16 and the cabinet November 18. Sanctions go into effect November 18.

It was thought likely that responses would be considered at these meetings and appropriate action taken. A copy of the protest was given the United States government in Washington for its consideration.

(Authoritative sources in Paris said France and Great Britain are drafting identical replies to the Italian protest and indicated both nations would stand firm for sanctions.)

Italy's notes state sanctions were undertaken without her participation and are considered as a unilateral act of their nature had been given her.

"Would Prevent Conflict."
Italy, the notes said, "has not wished until now to dissociate herself from the Geneva institution despite Italy's opposition to the procedure followed to her damage, because she desires to prevent a conflict, such as that now being considered, from leading to more vast consequences."

The statement concluded: "The Italian government will be pleased to know in what way the governments involved intend in their free and sovereign decisions to conduct themselves in view of the restrictive measures proposed against Italy."

Fascist leaders said their national committee of 1,000 members is teaching people to "live Italian" when sanctions bar the frontiers.

Both the northern and southern armies in Ethiopia were digging in for the winter, and strengthening their fortifications.

An official communique announced the finding of an abandoned Ethiopian camp within the palace grounds at Makale.

FRANCE SAID UNMOVED IN SANCTION POLICY
PARIS, Nov. 12.—(AP)—France said today it was unmoved in its policy of economic war with Italy.

Premier Pierre Laval is expected to reply to Premier Mussolini's warning that Italy would follow sanctions with the explanation that sanctions are unavoidable.

The effect of the loss of Italy's foreign trade on French business is feared by financial quarters, since France is still suffering heavily from the depression.

Authoritative sources said France and Britain are pending similar replies to the Italian protest against sanctions and that neither nation would waver in its adherence to the League covenant.

Laval is determined to save the franc from devaluation and today defended his budget economies against efforts of the chamber of commerce committee to modify deflationary decree laws.

Reiterating his opposition to devaluation or inflation, he told the committee that the 1938 budget would unbalance it, causing a deficit of at least 2,500,000,000 francs (about $163,000,000).

The committee sought to exempt many government employees, veterans and small investors from salary, pension and interest cuts. Laval indicated he would accept some relief for job holders, but no other tampering with decrees.

BRITAIN UNIMPRESSED BY ITALIAN PROTEST
LONDON, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Great Britain, it was said in authoritative quarters today, was wholly unimpressed by Italy's protest against League sanctions and would follow the threat of reprisals not serious and impossible to apply.

Britain therefore will not alter its plans for application of sanctions, these sources stated, and expects other governments to take the same position.

Officials here were somewhat puzzled by the Italian use of the words "real act of hostility," but had no information indicating this meant Italian withdrawal from the League or steps beyond economic reprisals—which had been expected.

The Italian protest, it was said, would not affect conversations under way between Sir Eric Drummond, Britain's ambassador to Rome, and Premier Mussolini.

These talks are designed to remove tension between the two countries over the concentration of Britain's fleet in the Mediterranean and the massing of Italian troops on the frontier of Libya.

GENEVA INDIFFERENT TO DUCES VIEWS
GENEVA, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Officials of the League of Nations remained indifferent tonight to Italy's protest to "sanctionist" members of the League.

A subcommittee handling contracts with Italy in the course of execution authorized a series of exemptions from the general rule that only contracts paid up can be fulfilled.

THREE G. O. P. LEADERS
SILENT ON PRESIDENCYHoover, Borah and Mills
Sidelined Candidacy Issue.

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—(UP)—Three republican leaders in Chicago by coincidence today varied in volubility but all avoided the question of whether they would seek the 1936 presidential nomination.

Herbert Hoover, en route to New York "on private business," said "I'm not settling public problems."

Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, stopping overnight on his way to Washington, came closest by saying: "I have not yet decided whether to permit my name to be placed on the preferential presidential ballot in California—at least, I have not made up my mind to say anything about it."

Ogden Mills, secretary of the treasury under Hoover, told the Rotary Club that "until unemployment is solved there can be no sound recovery." He returned to New York on the same train with the former president.

HOOVERS ANNIHILATION
PREDICTED BY MCKELLAR

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 12.—(UP)—Kenneth D. McKellar, iron-jawed Tennessee veteran of the United States senate, today predicted political annihilation in 1936 for Herbert Hoover, whom he picked as the probable republican standard-bearer in the presidential campaign.

"Hoover carried only seven states in 1928," McKellar said, "and we ought to be able to reduce that number considerably next year—perhaps as low as Taft carried in 1912." (Two states.)

"I believe President Roosevelt will be unanimously renominated and overwhelmingly re-elected. He has earned re-election by his wise policies. And for the first and only time in my history, I favor President Hoover. I believe he is the most likely republican candidate."

First Car Decorated for Great Motorcade on Friday

Sheriff Jake Hall, of DeKalb county, who claims the title of "champion motorcader of Georgia" and who says he hasn't missed such an event in 20 years, is the first to complete decoration of his car for the big Atlanta-Savannah motorcade which will roll next Friday. He also was the first to send in his application blank when registration for the 'cade opened two weeks ago. He is shown with Mrs. Hall, above with his car, all ready to start. Staff photo.

MOTORCADE WILL GO
WHETHER RAINY, FAIR

Donough at 8:40 o'clock and will leave there at 8:45 o'clock. This allows 40 minutes for the run of 30 miles, a speed comfortable for all drivers and yet providing the minimum of delay.

Riding 30 minutes ahead of the main motorcade will be the official scout car, The Constitution Oldsmobile. This car will reach each town half an hour in advance so that automobiles to join the line at that point will be all ready to swing into place without delay when the motorcade passes through.

Arrival at Jackson is set for 9:10 o'clock with departure at 9:20 o'clock. At Forsyth the parade will enter the town at 9:50 o'clock and will leave at 10 o'clock.

In Macon at Noon.
Macon will be reached at 11:40 o'clock and 15 minutes is allowed there, with the time for resuming the run set at 11:55 o'clock.

Arrival at Jeffersonville is 12:30 o'clock and departure 12:35 o'clock. The 'cade will swing into Stubbs Park in the heart of Dublin at 1:25 o'clock where there will be a two-hour stop for a great barbecue to be served by the citizens of that city and of Laurens county, with all the trimmings associated with barbecue since time immemorial.

At Dublin arrangements have been made with a number of the leading gasoline companies for tank cars to deliver gas and oil to all cars while they are parked during the luncheon stop. Gas and oil will be supplied at regular retail cost and motorcaders are asked to have their cars serviced in this manner so that there will be no necessity for leaving their position in line to find filling stations and all will be ready to start for Savannah when the signal is given after the barbecue.

The starting siren will be sounded as a warning signal five minutes before the 'cade leaves Dublin.

Arrival time at Savannah is 4:20 o'clock, with departure at 4:35 o'clock.

Arrival at Statesboro is 5:30 o'clock, and departure at 5:40 o'clock. And arrival at the Hotel DeSoto, Savannah, official headquarters there, is set for 7 o'clock.

Street Dancing Planned.

Following the buffet supper at The DeSoto, there will be a grand ball there for the motorcaders, with street dancing and open-air band concerts for those who prefer. Streets all around the hotel are being roped off, decorated and prepared for the dancers.

There will also be special programs in the famous night club at The DeSoto, the Dancing Tavern, as well as the Hotel Savannah night club and other resorts.

All Savannah hotels have stated there will be no advance in rates for the motorcade, despite the unusual demand for rooms and accommodations.

On Saturday morning the 'cade will reform for a tour of points of interest in Savannah and Chatham county, winding up at night with an oyster roast and shore dinner at the Chatham Country Club. Following the dinner a program of entertainment has been arranged, with a boxing card the feature event.

Saturday night will witness another entertainment program similar to that of Friday night.

Cadets, of course, will return to their homes as they please, though most have made their Savannah hotel reservations with a view to remaining there until Sunday at least.

All cars will be required to carry small flags on radiator or bumpers, which may be purchased for a few cents from any decorating store or auto supply place.

Official stickers and numbers have been issued to all participants. The motorcade stickers should be placed at the lower right-hand corner of the windshield, while one number goes above the sticker and the other on the lower right-hand corner of the rear window.

A squadron of motorcycle men from the Georgia national guard and from the Atlanta police department will handle the motorcade and direct traffic in all towns passed through en route. These officers will set the pace for the 'cade and will not only lead it but ride beside it to furnish information and assistance to any who may need it.

Service Cars Provided.
Several service cars will be at the rear of the procession for any who need minor repairs. Should any car develop motor trouble, or a flat tire, it will pull off the road and wait for the service car at the end of the line.

Cars that have to drop behind for any reason should stay at the rear until the next town where the 'cade is to stop is reached. They may then resume their proper places in line.

Experienced motorcaders know that rain nowadays makes no difference to such an event and the 'cade will roll from Atlanta promptly at 8 o'clock, rain or shine.

The route is the new all-paved short route from Atlanta to Savannah, 280 miles over all. It is just completed and this motorcade will officially dedicate it to the use of Georgians and the visitors within the state.

The Constitution, the Savannah Morning News, the Macon Telegraph, the Atlanta Motor Club, the Macon Chamber of Commerce and the city of Savannah are joint sponsors for the big occasion.

Mayor Thomas Gamble, of Savannah, is coming to Atlanta Thursday to travel with the 'cade on Friday and he, with Mayor Key, will occupy one of the leading cars.

Shorten Hours or Continue Dole,
Black Tells U. S. Private Industry

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Senator Black, democrat, Alabama, declared today that private industry must shorten working hours or continue to bear the unemployment burden through dole-financing taxes.

The author of the 30-hour work bill, opposed by many business spokesmen but constituting the major objective of the American Federation of Labor, said in an interview he would seek a vote on the measure when congress returns.

"I tried to get a vote last session," Black said with a smile, "and I couldn't. Whether the bill is brought up and passed at this next session depends upon the public."

"If the employed want to work longer hours to feed and clothe the unemployed, they will do it. They are doing it now, and private industry will continue to bear the unemployment burden in some way."

Present question.
The question is whether industry wants to do it through private employment, which means shorter hours, or through heavy taxes to support an outright dole of a huge continuing system of public works.

Black said labor representatives have not yet approached him on the question of pushing the bill to enactment at the coming session, although William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, announced that the measure tops the A. F. of L. program for 1936.

The soft-spoken Alabamian has been in the capital since September 15, but has centered his attention on the utility lobby investigation. He emphasized that inquiry is still under way and "we've been doing a lot of work," but said it hasn't been decided when the public hearings will be resumed.

Three Separate Fronts.
The bill which he believes will take care of unemployment by substituting private work for public works or a dole would require a 30-hour work week in businesses which:
Engage in interstate or foreign commerce.
Receive government contracts or loans.
Supply materials for firms with government contracts.

A further provision would require maintenance of present wage levels "until a reasonable time elapses for employers and employees to adjust them."

Although jail sentences and fines are provided for violators, Black said he believes the bill would be self-enforcing "because employers would see that employees obey and their competitors did likewise."

The senator denied that a 30-hour week would halt production, explaining, "If all the people were working now, it might. But if all the unemployed had been put to work on a 30-hour week back in 1929, we wouldn't have seen the value of production drop from $80,000,000,000 a year to $40,000,000,000."

MRS. HAMMERSTEIN
IS ON RELIEF ROLLSWidow of Famous Producer Suing Stepson for Necessities.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Life continues stormy for Emma Swift Hammerstein, 53-year-old widow of Oscar Hammerstein, who was to Broadway at the turn of the century what the Shuberts are today.

The ups and downs of her life since 1920, which once brought her to selling apples on Broadway, have cast her upon home relief since July, she said today.

"I have barely enough to eat," she declared.

She is suing her stepson, Arthur Hammerstein, for breach of contract to support her for the last year she brought to trial a suit for $100,000 against her stepson for necessities of life, but the action was terminated temporarily upon an agreement she was to receive $25 a week.

Now she is suing for $8,692 alleged back payments.

In 1930, Mrs. Hammerstein started the theatrical world by appearing in a drizzle at Chambers street and Broadway to "earn a living" selling apples.

A rival apple-seller brought out a placard, telling prospective buyers: "I may not be a celebrity, but my apples are just as good."

Mrs. Hammerstein announced in 1929 she was leaving the United States forever to live among people who appreciated her. Her conviction on a charge of immoral conduct in 1930 after her arrest in a hotel was subsequently reversed by a higher court on insufficient evidence.

DAISY ROOT PLEADS
INNOCENCE IN SLAYING

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 12.—(AP)—Mrs. Daisy Alexander Root, 30, pleaded innocent today when arraigned in criminal court on a charge of slaying her husband, Brenton Root, following a quarrel over a night club "cigarette girl."

W. T. McClain, district attorney-general, said the young widow will go to trial sometime in January.

Root, son of the Rev. Benjamin Franklin Root, Chicago Protestant Episcopal rector, was shot and killed at his country home on the outskirts of the city, November 3.

TO SUPREME COURTTrial Termed Circus, Asserts
Counsel, Saying German
Deprived of Rights.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Attorneys for Bruno Richard Hauptmann branded his New Jersey court trial a "circus" today in appealing to the supreme court to set aside his conviction of kidnapping and murdering the Lindbergh baby.

Battling to escape the electric chair, the former German machine-gunner charged deprivation of constitutional rights at the celebrated Flemington trial.

Whether the nine justices of the land's highest tribunal will review the world-famous case may be announced December 23, just in time to give the present occupant of the New Jersey "death house" a welcome or unwanted Christmas present.

Hauptmann was convicted by unanimous vote of 12 jurors. Later, the 13 judges of New Jersey's court of errors and appeals—the highest state tribunal—unanimously affirmed the verdict.

"Mob Spirit" Cited.
In asking the supreme court to pass on the conviction, and, if possible, to grant a new trial, Hauptmann's attorneys contended in a 32-page petition that "an hysterical mob spirit" prevailed at Flemington and that the jury was presented with "a picture of a circus" which made a "mockery of justice."

The daily presence of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh at the trial, the petition added, "unduly influenced the jury to view him as the real prosecutor and constantly presented to the jury the picture of a bereaved father for whose sorrow the world demanded a sacrifice."

Justice Thomas W. Trenchard, in his charge to the jury, was said to have "portrayed emphatic approval of the state's theories and witnesses and unfairly deprived a free and unbiased verdict."

Bruno "Bullied."
Attorney General David T. Wilentz was accused of "appeals to prejudice by inflammatory argument" and with having "bullied" Hauptmann and other witnesses on cross-examinations.

These arguments were advanced unsuccessfully before the court of errors and appeals.

The supreme court petition was filed with the clerk of the court by Edward Rosecrans, the only defense attorney who has been admitted to practice before it.

If the court refuses to interfere, the death sentence will stand unless Hauptmann's attorneys are successful in future moves. They can ask a new trial on the basis of new evidence—if they should find any—or they may ask the state board of pardons to commute the sentence to life imprisonment.

Should the high court grant a review, arguments would be heard probably in February or March. An opinion would be handed down within a few weeks.

"Deprived of Rights."
Another reason advanced to support the contention that Hauptmann was deprived of constitutional rights was that "biased and exaggerated newspaper reports and stories... unduly inflamed members of the jury panel and caused it to lose sight of the rule of law that a defendant is innocent until proven guilty beyond all reasonable doubt."

The petition also said the prosecution, during the trial, contended at one time that the infant was killed by a fall from the ladder outside his bedroom. Later, however, from his crib and at another asserted death was caused in the bedroom by a blow from a child.

Finally, the defense said the jury was not properly "sequestered and separated from the mass of the community."

Hauptmann was sentenced to die during the week of last March 18, but the death date has been suspended until the supreme court acts. If a review is denied, a new date will be set.

The petition filed today will be served on the state within the next 10 days. New Jersey then will have 20 days to answer.

MORTON MARYE DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Telephone Company Engineer Succumbs in Hospital. Was Native of Virginia.

Morton Marye, building engineer of the Southern Bell Telephone Company and a member of a widely known Atlanta and Virginia family, died yesterday at a private hospital at the age of 65. He had been in failing health for about six months and had been seriously ill for the last two months. He is a brother of P. Thornton Marye, architect.

Mr. Marye, who lived at the Cox Carlton hotel, had been a resident of Atlanta since 1907. A native of Richmond, Va., he was educated in private schools and at Randolph Macon College. He was a son of Colonel Morton Marye and the former Miss Caroline Homasell, of Richmond.

Coming to Atlanta 28 years ago, he was associated until the World War with his brother in the latter's architectural profession. At that time he joined the employ of the telephone company.

Mr. Marye was a member of the Piedmont Driving Club and of St. Luke's Episcopal church. In addition to his brother here, he is survived by another brother, Robert V. Marye, of Richmond, and a sister, Mrs. J. S. B. Thompson.

Funeral services will be held at 4 o'clock this afternoon at St. Luke's Episcopal church, with Dr. John Moore Walker officiating. The body will be taken at 6:20 o'clock tonight by H. M. Patterson & Son to Hollywood cemetery for burial in Hollywood cemetery there.

As Georgia Baptists Gathered in Atlanta

By LOUIE D. NEWTON.
Pastor Druid Hills Baptist Church. "Does it always rain?" asked a Georgia Baptist yesterday afternoon as he hailed a passing car to plead for a ride to a near-by garage where he sought to have his car repaired. He was one of the many who had gathered in Atlanta for the annual convention of the Georgia Baptist convention, which opened yesterday afternoon.

Forty years is a long while for one man to fill a conspicuous position. Such is the case in the secretariatship of the Georgia Baptist convention. Dr. B. D. Ragsdale, of Macon, has yesterday elected for the fourth consecutive time. He is a native of Rockdale county, a graduate of Mercer University, professor in that institution for many years, and pastor of several important churches throughout the state. Just now Dr. Ragsdale is the historian of the convention, having only recently published the second volume of "The History of Georgia Baptists."

Bishop Warren A. Candler, known and loved by the great majority of the 400,000 white Baptists of Georgia, yesterday afternoon was presented a gorgeous basket of cut flowers and decorative plants from the convention as an expression of abiding admiration and affection. "Tell my brethren that I love them and that I pray our Father's blessings upon the convention now in session," said the bishop.

A breath of world fellowship swept the hearts of the convention yesterday morning when a telegram of greetings was authorized to be forwarded to Dr. George W. Truett, president of the Baptist World Alliance, who sails within a few days on the steamship Deutschland of the North German Lloyd Lines for Southampton, and thence to strategic points in Europe, Africa and Asia on a world tour. Dr. Truett will preside at the sixth world congress of Baptists in Atlanta in 1939.

"We need salty Christians," declared Dr. John R. Sampay, president of the Southern Baptist convention, in a really great address yesterday afternoon, taking as his text a passage from the Sermon on the Mount in which Jesus declared that His true followers were like salt and light. "If we are saved from the rotting evils of society, there must be the pervasive, preserving work of genuine discipleship; and if the darkness of sin is to be overcome, there must be the light of faith and hope and love shed abroad by those who have received the Savior," continued the distinguished preacher and teacher and author. It is of interest to recall that Dr. Sampay has been chairman of the committee preparing the International Sunday School Lessons for the past 20 years. He is the president of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville, Ky., where for 50 years he has been a teacher.

The Constitution is putting on a great motorcade, leaving Atlanta Friday, and Georgia Baptists are putting on a great motorcade, leaving the Baptist Tabernacle at 12:30 o'clock noon today, headed for the Baptist Orphans' Home at Hapeville, where the entire convention will be the guests at 1 o'clock at an old-fashioned barbecue. President Preston Arkwright, of the Georgia Power Company, has graciously placed a fleet of buses at the disposal of the convention and Captain Jack Malcolm has provided a motorcycle escort for the long line of buses and private cars that will move promptly from the Tabernacle at 12:30 o'clock. The afternoon session of the convention will be held in the Hapeville Baptist church.

Georgia Baptist Convention Names Its Officers at Opening Day's Session

Officers re-elected by the Georgia Baptist convention are seen as they studied the report of the executive committee yesterday. They are, from left to right, Spencer B. King, of Blakely, treasurer; T. F. Calloway, of Thomasville, president; and B. D. Ragsdale, of Macon, secretary. Mr. Ragsdale has served as secretary for 41 years.

Four New Officers Are Elected At Georgia Baptist Convention

Four vice presidents were named and four officers re-elected by the 800 delegates and preachers attending the first day's sessions of the Georgia Baptist convention in the Baptist Tabernacle yesterday. New officers are Dr. W. H. Major, pastor of the Capitol Avenue Baptist church, Atlanta; Dr. R. D. Gray, of College Park; Dr. Frederick S. Porter, of Columbus; and Dr. J. C. Wilkinson, of Athens.

T. F. Calloway, of Thomasville, was returned to the presidency. Others re-elected were Dr. B. D. Ragsdale, of Macon, secretary; Dr. H. D. Warnock, of Forsyth, assistant secretary, and Spencer B. King, of Blakely, treasurer. Featured also on the program was the report of the executive committee and the convention sermon by Dr. Wilkinson, newly elected vice president.

In reporting for the executive committee Dr. James W. Merritt, secretary, recommended that Georgia Baptists give a greater percentage of their church's revenues to southern convention causes next year. The 1936 budget, as submitted, provided that 25 per cent of the "undesignated gifts to the co-operative program" shall go to foreign missions, home missions, theological seminaries and ministerial relief, as compared with only 20 per cent last year.

Advance in Gifts. Based on a total budget of $181,238.33 for 1936, the committee estimated $38,372.08 would go to the southward movement. It also reported a "heartening advance in gifts of members in the state to the co-operative program." During the first ten months of 1935 these totaled $272,066.20, an increase of $24,066.20 over the total of $247,941.57 for the same period in 1934.

After setting up the 1936 budget, the executive committee recommended that the "goal for distributable gifts be $250,000." Dr. Merritt said the amount southern causes have received from Georgia during the first ten months of this year is equivalent to 35 per cent of the total gifts of Georgia Baptists to program causes.

Reporting on the associated missions activities, Dr. Merritt said the membership of the Hundred Thousand Club now totals 32,506, of which Georgia has 2,772 members. He said the total amount contributed through the club since its beginning was $302,712.98 and Georgia had contributed $38,291.83 of that amount.

Three of the newly-elected vice presidents of the Georgia Baptist convention are pictured here shortly after their election yesterday. They are, from left to right, J. C. Wilkinson, of Athens; B. D. Gray, of College Park; and W. H. Major, of the Capitol Avenue Baptist church, Atlanta. The other vice president is Frederick S. Porter, Columbus.

Convention Sermon.

In the convention sermon Dr. Wilkinson urged the delegates to emulate "the spirit of Christ." He said the world is "cynical, disillusioned and filled with a sense of futility." He said he thought criticism was the result of unfulfilled dreams and urged the delegates to find the strength for facing disappointment by studying the teachings of Christ.

At the afternoon session the delegates heard an address by Dr. John R. Sampay, president of the Southern Baptist convention. There followed reports from the holding commission and the convention treasurer.

J. B. Lawrence, executive secretary-treasurer of the home mission board, addressed the convention last night. With Dr. Merritt presiding, reports also were heard from the Sunday school department, Woman's Missionary Union, Training Union department and the Student Union department.

At the session this morning reports will be heard from the committees on the Christian Index, education, Georgia Baptist hospital and relief and annuity. Several addresses are scheduled for the meeting this afternoon. Charles E. Maddry, secretary of the foreign mission board, will speak tonight.

OFFICERS GO ON TRIAL IN DISASTER OF SHIP

Officials of Morro Castle Are Charged With Criminal Negligence.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Two officers of the ill-starred Morro Castle went on trial in federal court today charged with criminal negligence in connection with the fire that raked the vessel from stem to stern with a loss of 124 lives a year ago last September.

In addition to the officers, Acting Captain William F. Warms and Chief Engineer Eben S. Abbott, the defendants included Henry E. Cabaud, executive vice president of the New York & Cuba Mail Company, and the company itself.

The first day was devoted to the selection of a jury which will hear the story of what happened aboard the luxury liner that blustery, tragic night off the New Jersey coast 14 months ago.

Asserting the trial would require "the better part of a month," United States Attorney Francis W. H. Adams was granted two alternate jurors who would serve in the event of illness among the regular jurors.

Warms, who as chief officer became acting master of the ship when Captain William R. Wilmet died suddenly a few hours before the disaster, is charged with "unlawfully and wilfully . . . failing to take such steps as were necessary for the safety of upward of 200 passengers."

Abbott like Warms, is accused of having failed to give proper instructions to subordinates. In addition, he is charged with having left the vessel in lifeboat No. 1.

Cabaud is charged with permitting negligence and violations of law on the part of the company and the officers of the boat. The company is charged with negligence resulting in loss of life on the high seas.

Conviction on all counts of the seven indictments would carry maximum penitentiary sentences of 10 years each for the three men, plus $10,000 fine each. In the case of the corporation the maximum penalty would be a $10,000 fine.

FOUR ARE INDICTED IN COSTNER KIDNAPING

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 12.—(AP)—Cletus Stone, escaped Illinois state prison convict; his brother, Carl; Mrs. Mae Banghart and Helen Barkley were indicted by the Knox county grand jury today on kidnapping and robbery charges.

The indictments charged the quartet with kidnapping Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Costner from their home in Knoxville October 25; robbing Francis B. Hicks of $14 and his automobile near Maryville, Tenn.; robbing Costner of his car, a fountain pen and $47; and robbing Mrs. Costner of a dress and diamond ring.

"I'm SOLD!"

It always works. You feel better all the time.

THREE STEPS TO RELIEVING CONSTIPATION

I Measure out a cleansing dose of liquid laxative, regulating the amount to suit the age, condition and individual need.

II Tomorrow, take less; let the regular muscular action of bowels do part of the work.

III Reduce the dose each time, until regularity is completely restored.

You can find no safer advice than this, to find the solution to your bowel worries. Just do what hospitals do, and the doctors insist on. Use a liquid laxative, and you can bring yourself to clocklike regularity without strain or ill effect.

You can use a liquid laxative at home. And if you knew what a doctor knows, you would use only the liquid form. A liquid can always be taken in gradually reduced doses. Reduced dosage is the real secret of relief from constipation.

Ask a doctor about this. Ask your druggist how very popular liquid laxatives have become. They give the right kind of help, and right amount of help. Taking a little less each time, gives the bowels a chance to act of their own accord, until they are moving regularly and thoroughly without any help at all.

Once you have experienced this comfort, you will never go back to any form of help that can't be regulated to suit the need!

The liquid laxative generally used is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It contains senna and cascara—both natural laxatives that form no habit, even in children. The action is gentle, but sure. It will relieve any sluggishness or bilious condition due to constipation. It is the very nicest tasting, nicest acting preparation you can buy. So, try Syrup Pepsin, taking regulated doses till Nature restores regularity.

"Camels never get on your Nerves"

STEADY SMOKERS SAY

Recently Returned from the jungle fastnesses of the Upper Surinam River, Dutch Guiana, Mrs. William LaVarre, daring girl explorer, says: "My husband and I are devoted to Camels—took them with us on our expedition. And here's an important point: Smoking Camels steadily, I find, does not affect one's nerves."

Lieutenant Commander Frank Hawks, U.S.N.R., holder of 214 speed records, says: "I've been flying for 19 years and smoking Camels almost as long. Breaking speed records tests the pilot's nerves as well as his plane. I smoke all I want to. Camels are so mild they never upset my nerves. And they taste better!"

This is Margaret Ellen Nichols, expert newspaper woman. She has this to say: "Newspaper work involves long, irregular hours—hard effort—lots of strain. I smoke all I want, because Camels never bother my nerves. Camels have a mild, pleasant flavor—delicate, pleasing—entirely different from any other cigarette."

WILLIE HOPPE, champion of champions, famous personality of billiards! Mr. Hoppe has learned that cigarette mildness is essential to one who prizes healthy nerves. He says: "Championship billiards call for healthy nerves. It was a happy day for me when I turned to Camels. I can smoke all I wish and never have 'edgy' nerves. I have smoked Camels for a long time now, and I want to compliment them on their mildness. It must take more expensive tobaccos to give that special Camel flavor I like so much." You, too, will find a new delight once you turn to Camels. They never get on your nerves... never tire your taste.

BARBEDWIRE FRONT IS QUIET AT TIFTON

Guard Stationed To Keep Railroad From Building Track Across Highway.

TIFTON, Ga., Nov. 12.—(P)—Peace prevailed tonight on the State Highway Department's barbed-wire front, where a guard has been placed to keep a railroad from building a track across a state highway.

The Atlantic Coast Line railroad asked the department for permission to build a track across the highway, not far from where the department recently spent $65,000 to build an overpass over other tracks, to lessen danger to traffic.

At the highway department offices in Atlanta, Judge Max L. McKee, a member of highway board, said he felt "sure the situation can and will be ironed out all right," and that the railroad had "assured us they wouldn't cross the highway with the tracks without our permission, which has been denied."

"There won't be any war," he said, laughing. He added the guard had been placed merely as a precautionary measure, and that the placing of barbed-wire entanglements on either side of the highway probably was the local maintenance supervisor's own idea.

Governor Talmadge said in Atlanta that the state is willing to co-operate in the railroad's efforts to improve transportation facilities to a recently-reopened meat-packing plant of Armour & Co. here, but that permission to install a grade crossing had been denied.

He said the state would be glad to co-operate in granting permission to put the track under the highway.

BRITAIN SEEKING GREEK WAR PORTS

England May Trade Islands to Greece in Event of Conflict.

ATHENS, Nov. 12.—(UP)—Negotiations are proceeding between Britain and Greece concerning possibility of Britain ceding the island of Cyprus to Greece in exchange for use of a number of Greek ports in event of an Anglo-Italian clash in the Mediterranean, it was understood tonight.

Greek ports which Britain might want to utilize in case of an emergency are Astakos, Argostoli, Navarino, Pylos and Melos and the famous Suda bay, in which Britain always has shown interest, reliable sources said.

Travelers returning to Greece from the Dodecanese islands reported Greek inhabitants of the Italian possessions are becoming increasingly anti-Italian.

Great dissatisfaction is due to higher taxes and deportation of Greek patriots.

Travelers allege that Italian authorities, in order to prevent adverse criticism or anti-Italian propaganda being carried to Greece, are deporting undesirable from one island to another.

Eight Italian destroyers, seven submarines and 155 airplanes reportedly are stationed at the island of Leros. Two hundred tons of barbed wire were said to have been landed there a few days ago.

50 PERSONS RESCUED FROM WRECKED SHIP

ing passengers and crew in a desperate scramble for safety on the wreckage and nearby rocks.

Merchant vessels tried in vain to rescue them. Lifeboats were tossed dangerously in the turbulent waters and actual success was met only after the destroyers Perry and Bulmer had rushed to the scene.

Messages flashed from the destroyers and the tug Trabador indicated those rescued had been saved by means of rafts which could not be capsized. For a time, the four women and one man were left marooned on a rock after all others had been saved, the rescuers apparently unable to reach them via the perilous route by rafts.

Saved From Rocks.

Word the 50 who survived the harrowing experience had been rescued reached here before the planes, two bombers and two observation craft, arrived at the straits.

The two deaths were reported from the wreck scene as due to exposure, with many of the others suffering from their terrifying experience of four days in the face of death.

In desperation, some of the victims were declared to have made rafts from wreckage of the Silverhazel as rescue ships were unable to get within 1,000 feet of the vessel.

The rescue boats picked them up when they were a safe distance from the treacherous rocks.

The destroyer Bulmer, which was staying in the vicinity to search for the two persons missing.

"Waves were washing over the rock and I feared the wreckage, carrying the people, would slide off into deep water."

The 3,001-ton Silverhazel was constructed in 1927 at a cost of $1,250,000, it was said by A. G. Henderson, official of the vessel's line.

CAPTAIN OF JAP SHIP DESCRIBES RESCUE EFFORTS

MANILA, Nov. 13.—(Wednesday) (P)—A dramatic story of the vain attempt to rescue half-naked survivors perishing on jagged rocks and wreckage of the Silverhazel was told here today by Captain Mori, commanding the Japanese freighter Chicago Maru.

His own ship ripped open by jagged rocks in San Bernardino straits, the Japanese mariner was forced to sail here to save the Chicago Maru.

"My lookout sighted the wreck at 7 o'clock Sunday morning," Captain Mori said. "The Silverhazel had broken in two and the stern and disappeared."

"The fore part rested against jagged rocks, half submerged. It was held there by a ledge, in danger of slipping off the rocks."

"There were about 20 half-naked people on the rock and 20 others on the wreckage. The rock against which the Silverhazel crashed was about 20 feet long and 10 feet high."

"The sea was running high, but I ordered a life boat out in hope it could rescue the survivors."

"I just about to attempt the rescue when a sudden squall hit us. I had ordered the anchor chain to be cut and to get away from the dangerous position."

"The hook caught on a rock. My men cut the anchor chain and the ship swung in a circle, a submerged reef and some plates were stove in."

"The Chicago Maru started taking water. I stood by, however, until 10 o'clock Sunday afternoon when a powerful tug appeared."

"I told the tug captain to go in close and attempt a rescue, after explaining my ship was damaged and had to make port."

"Waves were washing over the rock and I feared the wreckage, carrying the people, would slide off into deep water."

"If that had happened, we would have been forced to go in close again and pick them up from the sea in spite of heavy waves and riptides."

"My cargo was not damaged as we were carrying logs in our leaking holds."

111 PERSONS RESCUED WHEN STEAMER SINKS

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Nov. 12.—(P)—The British freighter Polo today reported it had rescued 111 persons aboard the Turkish steamer Inebolu, which sank last night in Smyrna harbor. Incomplete reports said 90 of the 200 aboard, passengers and crew, were missing or drowned.

The Polo still is standing by the scene of the disaster, which occurred during a severe storm. The Inebolu is listed by Lloyd's register as a steamer of 1,080 tons, built in 1892 and registered from Istanbul.

Return to 'New Deal of '32' Needed, Johnson Says, Lambasting Tugwell

Tells Audience Talmadge Must Speak for Himself, Drawing Storm of Applause in Announcing Continued Support of Roosevelt in Speech Here.

By RALPH MCGILL.

"What do you think the country would do under Governor Talmadge, general?"

The crowd in the Wesley Memorial auditorium last night roared and there was applause as General Hugh S. Johnson, who had just returned from his heels and smiled.

"He can answer that better than anyone else," he said, smiling down at Georgia's Governor, Eugene Talmadge, who had just returned from his heels and smiled.

"But, I'll tell you," he said, "I started out with Franklin D. Roosevelt and I'm going on through with him."

And a storm of applause broke at this.

General Hugh Johnson, director of the late jammed Blue Eagle, was making his first appearance in Atlanta since the demise of the NRA.

Flays Tugwell.

He flayed the old deal of Harding, Coolidge and Hoover, and he flayed Roy W. Tugwell and his associates in the administration as the group which is causing all the opposition to the administration and which may, within the next year, bring about its defeat if something is not done.

He declared the foreign trade policy of the AAA and declared it had ruined our export business.

He declared the New Deal of 1932 the deal which this country needed and the one to which it must return.

Governor Eugene Talmadge, who has been advocating the rugged individualism of Jeffersonian democracy, heard General Johnson say of the old deal:

"It permitted child labor, it wrecked agriculture, it denied labor the right of collective bargaining, it made of banking a racket, it made the operation of the stock and bond market a gambling game with the odds in favor of the operators, it provided nothing for old age pensions, it permitted utility and big business rapacity, it made loans to bankrupt nations and did nothing to preserve the purchasing power of wages."

Beginning of New Era.

"We cannot return to the old deal without collapse and revolution," he said. "We have reached a crisis, the end of an era and the beginning of a new. And I say we can bring about this transition of our political system to the growth of our industrial system without the claptrap ideas and the foolish proposals of Tugwell and his clique."

When Johnson asked for questions, he had prefaced his address with the statement that he wanted them and that he hide was thick and not to spare him.

For a while there was hesitation but then they came, rather fast.

General, do you think if Franklin D. Roosevelt and his Tugwells were removed that business would go forward?

"Business would collapse," Johnson said. "It would collapse. We've got to go forward."

"General, if these Tugwells are not removed would you advise going ahead blindly with Roosevelt?"

"If your choice is going back to Hooverism and do-nothingism, yes, go ahead with Franklin D. Roosevelt."

But, General, is that the only alternative?

"No, I say for the administration and the country to go back to the New Deal of 1932. That's the sound one."

"What about state's rights, General?"

"Well, we passed some very fine laws in New York abolishing sweat shops. They moved just the other border into another state without the laws and still did their business in New York. There has got to be some regulation. It goes into everything, especially in the large industries with national organizations."

"General, you said your farm policy would be to exclude all imports which conflict with our own and to subsidize the farm markets directly from the treasury but to sell the surplus in the world market at the world price. How can you do that. To sell you must buy?"

"Got To Be Selfish."

"Well, you've got to be selfish. Maybe that isn't attractive but it's true. This isn't the greatest sucker nation in the international scheme of things. We are worse than we've ever been. We've been the fat boy with the bag of candy long enough. We've got to sell our surplus in the world market at the world price because it might offend some other nation. Isn't that terribly stupid?"

"General, do you think strikers, no matter how holy their cause, should be fed by the government?"

N. Y. Strike Discussed.

"We had something like that in New York. We fixed it so the man was offered a chance for a job. If he did not take it he was removed from family relief. If he did not support his family with the job he was arrested and tried. Some strikers were started on that unholy basis: 'Go ahead and strike, the government will feed you.'"

"I think we ought to have a census of the unemployed. Let's see how many. We think there were about 12,000,000 in 1933. We think there are about 9,000,000 now. But we don't know. If times were normal we'd still have a carry of about 4,000,000."

Bankhead Act.

"General Johnson, what about the Bankhead act?"

"I've answered that. I don't think it fits. It distorts the thing. I told you my solution before. Subsidize cotton directly from the government and then sell the surplus on the world market at the world price. Do what the same way. The idea of this country importing wheat, as we are doing, is stupidity."

"General, do you think if Roosevelt got rid of the saps and crackpots around him we'd do better?"

"Say, I call them worse than saps and crackpots. We've got some good men in the democratic party. And we need some camp followers. The democrats have got to have them to

ROOSEVELT PLEDGES PEACE

There is no evasion or equivocation in President Roosevelt's statement in his Armistice Day speech delivered at Arlington that "aggression on the part of the United States is impossible in so far as the present administration of your government is concerned."

The nation's attitude toward peace is succinctly expressed by the President in the statement that—

"The primary purpose of this nation is to avoid being drawn into war. It seeks also in every practicable way to promote peace and to discourage war. Except for those few who have placed or who place temporary, selfish gain ahead of national or world peace, the overwhelming mass of American citizens are in hearty accord with these basic policies of our government, as they are also entirely sympathetic with the efforts of other nations to end war."

Emphasizing that the United States has co-operated fully in every move to limit armaments and sought to establish the principle of "good neighbors" in the relations between the nations of the world, the President warns that "jealousies among nations continue; armaments increase; national ambitions that disturb the world's peace are thrust forward; and most serious of all, international confidence in the sacredness of international contracts is on the wane."

He cites that the "dangers that confront the future of mankind as a whole are greater than the dangers which confront the people of the United States by and in themselves alone."

The President does not argue in favor of isolation for America, but his address is pointedly significant as indicating the full extent of his determination that we shall not become involved in the current European disturbance.

Undoubtedly should unwise or indifferent American traders attempt to line their pockets with gold through business with either Italy or Abyssinia, or any other nation that may be brought into the conflict, the administration will take steps sufficiently positive to guarantee against the continuance of any such threat to the peace of the nation.

The President forcefully and accurately presents the attitude of the country in emphasizing the necessity, above everything else, of our avoiding any steps that will endanger the nation's becoming involved in a mess that is none of our business and from the participation in which we could expect to gain nothing but loss much.

IMPROVEMENT'S ACID TEST

What the Farm Credit Administration calls the "acid test of an improvement in agriculture" was revealed in a report made by W. L. Myers, governor of the FCA, to President Roosevelt, in which he announces that 83 per cent of total interest payments due were paid up on October 30.

"While repayment of principal not due, in many cases, for some time, we have received $11,000,000 in such payments," Myers further points out as emphasizing the bettered condition of the farmer.

There is no doubt that a complete survey of conditions in all the agricultural sections of the country would completely refute the unfounded assertions of calamity howlers, principally interested in defeating the aims of the administration and who offer no plausible program to take the place of the one they attack.

With no set effort to secure reports of improvement in agriculture, such reports are becoming significantly more frequent. For weeks the Georgia press has been filled with accounts of the increased revenues of the farmers of the

No War Yet.

ADDIS ABABA—When the Ethiopian mobilization is finally completed, there may be some battles. Up to the present moment there have been only skirmishes. The skirmishes, it is true, have cost hundreds of people their lives, and they are therefore not slight indications of what a real war would mean. The British are doing their utmost to arm the Ethiopians. Six ships with war equipment were unloaded at Zeila in British Somaliland and the material shipped to the Ogaden front in short time.

Most of the stuff consists of rifles. For these are badly needed. Immense crowds of Ethiopians are present with sticks and slings at the present moment. With rifles in their hands, these men have at least some little chance to defend themselves against the enormously superior Italian equipment.

When all is said and done, the Ethiopians have not done badly. On one front, the western front, they have thrown the Italian army of 30,000 men back completely, inflicting heavy losses. On the other front, the Italian force started from Ertruma on October 3 or 4 with the object of occupying Musa Ali mountain and then pushing along into the Afar desert in the direction of the sources of the Atchouk river. The ultimate object was to reach Dire Dawa on the Djibouti railway and effect a juncture with the army of General Graziani, which is invading Ethiopia from the south. The road which that army on the western front—not the northern front—had to take led through one of the worst deserts in the world. The heat is 120 in the shade and there are only three water holes on the first 250 miles. The Dinkalis poisoned these wells, so the Italians had to transport their water. The water transports, however, were wiped out by the Dinkalis and the army was stuck. Then the tribesmen attacked the advance guard and cut it to pieces.

On the northern front nothing has happened since the peaceful occupation of Axum. Nothing much will happen there in the coming months. The Italians have under their control now a good chunk of the province of Tigre and they are consolidating their positions. To advance further into the province involves a great risk. But they have attracted a huge Abyssinian force to this region. This force has been engaged in a series of battles for weeks to encounter the invaders. It had not come in contact with the forces commanded by General de Bono. The trick is that the Italians have thus diverted the main force of Ethiopia away from the southern front where the main blow against Ethiopia must fall. That maneuver is eminently successful for the Abyssinians are not fighting through the mountain passes would take six weeks to return and join the southern army, which, within a few weeks, must bear the brunt of the first real battle for the independence of Ethiopia.

CHANCE FOR YOUTH

Faced with a huge shortage in skilled labor, word comes from Detroit that automobile manufacturers and other large industrial institutions of the country are planning to establish a system of apprenticeship that will afford a large number of the youth of the nation an opportunity to learn trades and become skilled mechanics.

No amount of calamity howling will retard progress as long as the fundamentals to create progress are in as plain sight as they are now in so far as agriculture is concerned.

Restriction of immigration gradually diminished this supply of finished workmen, but during the short years of the depression the shortage fitted in with reduced production. Now that prosperity is spreading over the country, with increased demand for automobiles and various kinds of machinery, the lack of skilled workmen is seriously handicapping many industries, resulting in "raids" on the supply of artisans in some cities to supply the need in other communities.

Industry saw the handwriting on the wall some months ago and set up a committee, which was backed by three great manufacturing associations, to study the problem. It was found that education in America's schools has tended to make graduates look for white-collar jobs, instead of seeking skilled jobs in factories, and that while many schools are well equipped for technical and mechanical training, practical apprenticeship must be 90 per cent of the training of skilled work.

C. J. Freund, dean of the College of Engineering of the University of Detroit, holds: "Apprentice training is the answer to industry's very serious problem and also an answer to social problems in homes where the future of boys is a problem. Youth is eager to 'go places,' but he has no place to go. Teach him an honorable craft and introduce him to an honorable career and you have solved the family problem."

The report made to the industrialists struck at a vital point in saying: "The tendency toward the employment of an excess number of apprentices when business is good and laying them off as soon as production is curtailed obviously should be avoided. Apprentices should be indentured and the contract respected by both parties."

It is reported that Detroit alone is faced with a shortage of 125,000 skilled workmen, and other industrial cities will greatly increase the number which will be needed in future years. The move that has been started holds out great promise for taking care of thousands of our young men, now in CCC camps, or roaming the country in aimless fashion, wondering what the future holds for them.

The trouble with the modern problem novel is that all the characters become disillusioned. And so does the reader.

Why a country that has made itself free from the task of supporting a fellow who got big pay for just sitting around with a metal derby on his head should take him back is a mystery to us liberty-loving Americans. In fact, it's all Greek to us.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

BY PAUL MALLON.

PLACE-PUTTING

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Backstairs diplomats here suspect that Britain is undertaking quietly to put Japan in her place, as well as Mussolini.

The Chinese silver nationalization move is generally known to have followed conferences between the Chinese government leaders and Sir Frederick Leith-Ross, chief economic adviser to the British government. He went to Shanghai because London developed a sudden worry about China, strangely coincidental with its equally sudden apprehensions about the Mediterranean.

What Chinese nationalization of silver means for Britain is: A stronger centralized government in China, a Shanghai financial strangle hold on all China, a financial defense against Japanese aggression.

PALAUER That explains why Tokyo was shocked when the Nippon shok, Britain sent its Tokyo envoy hurrying to the Japanese foreign office next day, to assure everyone there was no truth in the reports that China had taken the move on Leith-Ross' promise to lend $50,000,000 for stabilization. This was what is known among students of the international wiles as a diplomatic assurance.

Our most eminent authorities have reason to believe that someone connected with Leith-Ross encouraged the Chinese to hope that a loan would be forthcoming, although nothing may have been done directly about it.

The reason they suspect it is because the subject was mentioned to the American ambassador, Nelson Johnson, by someone who looked very much like Leith-Ross himself.

Note—This may explain why no comment has developed here about the far east, although officials consider the situation as important as Ethiopia.

The loan background is that the treasury has been thinking about it for years, but doubts whether it could be done without congressional authority. No commitments were made.

SHOCKS Finesse used by the Japanese in reoccupying Shanghai is the admiration of all who appreciate the artistic deception required in diplomacy. The Japanese remembered what Mussolini forgot in Ethiopia—a good excuse.

First, the Japanese were outraged because the Chinese had failed to advise them in advance that a monetary move was under consideration. This shock was sufficient pretense for landing sailors. But a shock cannot last forever, so a Japanese sailor was found murdered in Shanghai.

There are diplomatic insiders here phlegmatic enough to suggest that the Japanese sailor was murdered by a Japanese bullet. In fact, the obvious suggestion has reached diplomatic quarters here in the form of a report.

The report may be erroneous, but the inference behind it is not.

VALUE You may expect the Chinese dollar to be pegged to the American dollar at 29 cents. It has been 30 cents, but the Chinese want to make it 29. The Chinese government has been holding back on an announcement because of Japanese reaction. The Chinese made it 30 cents in establishing the managed currency because they did not care to arouse internal disturbances at that time. Once it hit a high of 31.9.

PARALLELS The most interesting thing about China's action is how closely it parallels our own, rather than the British. The Chinese authorities apparently copied, step for step, what we did in 1932. They have even copied President Roosevelt's somewhat misleading phrases.

We "nationalized" gold; China has "nationalized" silver. We abrogated the gold clause; China has abrogated the silver clause. We undertook to manage the external value of our currency; China is doing the same.

REINVESTIGATING One of those congressional investigating committees is now privately investigating its own investigators. You may recall that the house patents committee once looked into allegations that some of its patent pool investigators acted as lawyers in private suits against corporations they were supposed to be scrutinizing.

Sworn evidence exists in Chicago that a former judiciary investigator for a house judiciary subcommittee split fees in a bankruptcy reorganization with a Midwest utilities company. The present case will be more important if substantial evidence is found.

NAMES The name of President Roosevelt's new coast guard yacht, for week-ending, is Electra. That lady's role in mythological history was to urge Orestes to vengeance. As a daughter of Atlas, she is also commonly known as one of the lost stars. There is a New Deal movement afoot to change the name.

FAIR ENOUGH

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

Opinion

GENEVA.—On all sides in Geneva fascinating stories are to be heard of fabulous graft which is received by European newspaper publishers and by some of the writers from various governments which desire to create public opinion in other nations.

This can hardly be true of German, Italian and Russian journalists in the present state of affairs, because journalism is extinct in those countries. No paper is permitted to print anything which is not approved by the dictatorship; and writers, under such conditions, are not worth the price of a subsidy or bribe, however small.

Propaganda is all they have left of a proud old profession. This must be a deep humiliation to the craft of journalism in Germany, at least, because Germany in other times possessed some strong, honest newspapers directed by courageous editors with the assistance of good newspapermen.

The British and Americans enjoy an honorable reputation still, but it is a strange experience to observe possibly as many as 200 gentlemen around the press in a bit of a press room and adjoint lobby in the temporary Palace of Peace and to hear snatches of conversation, many of them in a tone of derision, which would be up to you.

Trouble And it is no wonder that officials of the League of Nations are genuinely worried over Mexico's proffer of the artistic services of Senor Diego Rivera, the revolutionary artist, to adorn with appropriate murals the great new press room of the great permanent Palace of Peace. Senor Rivera is more a political and social cartoonist than a conventional mural artist, and his satire is bold and contemptuous.

As an admirer of Lenin he might find it difficult to extol the slave press of the soviet union while condemning on the same wall the journalism of Germany and Italy for its submission to similar slavery. That would be his problem, however.

But dictators pass, and presumably the time will come when papers now controlled by force and the threat of prison or death will revive and regain their self respect and that of the world. It will be necessary to have a new kind of journalist, a new profession of journalism in such countries, because the old hands will have died or entered into other lines of work.

Disgraces That will take more or less time, according to the character of the country, Germany should rebound more quickly than others. But a press which bears the notorious reputation of French journalism has no need of a new profession of expediency designed to prevent impetuous and possibly corrupt papers from balling up delicate international negotiations or causing trouble by incontinent foreign nations. The French press enjoys complete freedom and yet has managed to discredit and disgrace itself.

A suggestion was instantaneous when Senor Rivera was nominated that he portray the French press as a street walker plucking at the sleeve of a munitions officer's magnate. But the honor of a huge press room in the new Palace of Peace and is not worth the bother of the controversy which the Senor Rivera cartoon is reasonably certain to arouse. To be sure, the murals, as they are sufficiently savage in their indictment of the craft which will work in their accusing presence, will briefly call the world's attention to the degradation of journalism but that would not cure it.

I do not know what was the condition of journalism 25 or 50 years ago. It cannot be said that the institution it could hardly have been anything more foul than it is today. The institution which is to enjoy the pre-eminence and the conveniences of the new world press room in the great palace of the League of Nations must be regarded as the tool of world politicians and itself an enemy of peace.

You cannot determine the water content of snow by measuring the depth. On the average, 10-12 inches of newly fallen snow will contain one inch of water. But the common rule of 17 inches of loosely packed snow may be necessary to make one inch of water. Two inches of old snow may be the equivalent to one inch of water.

Irrigation engineers, flood control experts, etc., usually determine the water content by cutting out a section of snow from top to bottom and weighing it.

WORLD WAR DAY-BY-DA.

Twenty Years Ago Today, November 13, 1915—An American protectorate was established over Haiti by treaty. Far-seeing naval officers, fearful that a foreign power might take advantage of disorders in the island to gain a foothold there and establish a naval base that could be used against the United States, had induced Uncle Sam to intervene. Thus an occupation that was costly to this country and brought us nothing but headaches was begun.

The Best Gamecock Would Be a Failure

If He Tried To Compete With Fliers

BY ROBERT QUILLEN.

The ordinary boy says quite truthfully: "This saying that any American boy can become a millionaire or president is all baloney." But the explanation is not in the want of opportunity; it is in the boy.

And that sad truth, plus the universal refusal to accept it and be reconciled to it, explains the greater part of the feeling called social unrest.

We know beyond any doubt, for we have seen it done many times, that a poor boy can work his way through college without the gift of a nickel from his father or anybody else; win a scholarship for post-graduate study; and then enter a profession or business and soon win fame and wealth and power.

But to say that any boy can do it is a cruel and dangerous untruth. He can't do it if he has a body or a nervous equipment that will crack under the strain.

He can't do it if his mind is dull or his memory poor or his will weak. He can do it only if he has the right physical and mental equipment and the tenacity and drive and ambition of a natural-born winner.

In short, some are born to handle the big jobs and some are born to handle the little jobs.

Isn't anybody's fault, except that of ancestors, and there is nothing that anybody can do about it.

No change in the rules, nor any social revolution or New Deal law can make a lightweight man the heavyweight champion or enable the plowhand to substitute for Einstein.

Each of us is born with limitations. He can handle some jobs and other jobs are beyond him. And if his natural limitations doom him to dig coal, he simply can't render a service to the world that is worth enough to make him rich.

If he could understand that and reconcile himself to the inevitable, he could be content and happy.

If he feels resentful and bitter and cheated of his rights, it is because somebody has fooled him and made him feel that he is entitled to more than he is able to deserve.

It is the old, old story of the little girl hating the world because she wasn't born a boy.

Hookworm infestation makes the host anemic, listless, languid, lazy, more or less indifferent. It has caused a good deal of ill health in the tropics. OLD GEORGIA RIOT LAW HIT IN HERNDON CASE

New York Attorney Attacks
Constitutionality of Statute.
Case Continues Today.

Georgia's ancient insurrection law was attacked from all sides yesterday as Judge Hugh M. Dorsey began the habeas corpus hearing for Angelo Herndon, negro communist, who was convicted in 1932 of attempting to incite to riot.

Lawyers for the negro asserted the law under which he was convicted is contrary to the constitution, which provides for free speech, free press and free assembly.

And besides that, the attorney contended, Angelo never attempted to incite a riot, anyway. He only made an effort to organize the labor forces in Georgia, they said.

The hearing was recessed at 5 o'clock yesterday by Judge Dorsey until 9 o'clock this morning.

Negro's Legal Staff.
Whitney North Seymour, of New York, a former assistant United States solicitor-general, heads the legal staff appearing for Herndon. His associates are W. A. Sutherland and Elbert P. Tuttle, well-known Atlanta lawyers.

Seymour contended Georgia's insurrection law has never been tested in the supreme court and that it is unconstitutional. Also, he declared, it is too vague and indefinite for a conscientious jury to convict a person charged with its violation.

The state's opposition to the habeas corpus is being presented by Major J. Walter LeCraw, assistant solicitor-general. He will have the concluding argument at the hearing. Herndon was charged by the state in the original trial, before Judge Lee Wyatt, of LaGrange, with attempting to organize a negro republic in Georgia. To this, Seymour answered Herndon was only furthering the interests of the communist party in attempting to organize the labor forces in the state as a part of the general communist program throughout the "Black Belt."

"Force" Not Reasonable.
He declared that the communist literature found in Herndon's possession at the time of his arrest, there was not a single word which advocated using force to overthrow the government. In one book, written by a clergyman, he admitted, there was one little passage which said something about force, but the New York lawyer asserted Herndon did not distribute this volume at all. He had it for his personal use, he said.

Seymour declared that even if Herndon had mentioned anything about "force," it really would not have been a threat against the Georgia government because in the state in 1932 there were only 27 or so communist voters. He also said that the negro was deprived of his liberty without due process of the law and that the nature of the evidence on which Herndon was convicted was unconstitutional.

The famous New York attorney came here specially for the trial and will leave for New York immediately following a decision on the case. Herndon's defense is being paid for by the International Labor Defense and the communist and socialist parties and other organizations.

The United States Supreme Court recently refused to review the case because constitutional questions had not been presented in the correct form, the negro's attorneys said.

Salesman Seeks Girl Who Likes Tobacco

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Loaded with two railroad tickets to McAlester, Okla., a carton of cigarettes and the price of a marriage license, Guy Hendrix, 28-year-old jewelry salesman, haunted the missing persons bureau tonight—looking for the girl he said scorned him for tobacco.

If Miss Virginia Whitaker—description: "Well, she's mighty pretty, but she's stubborn"—will return Hendrix who can smoke all she likes. He's had enough trouble.

Miss Whitaker and Hendrix, both of McAlester, had been sweethearts for two years, until she started smoking, he said, adding:

"I don't like that smoking business and I told her. So she blew— I mean really blew. I can't find her any place, but I think she's in Kansas City so I'll keep on looking."

Hendrix said the home furnishings he paid for and "everything is ready for the wedding" down at McAlester.

"I gave up my job and wrecked my car on top of all the cash I spent for telegrams looking for her. But I gotta get her back."

"I'm going to marry her right on the spot when I find her and she can smoke a pipe at the ceremony if she wants to."

'MYSTERY PRISONER' SEIZED ON HIGH SEAS
HAMBURG, Germany, Nov. 12.—(AP)—A "mystery prisoner" seized on the high seas by the German government arrived today aboard the steamer Cap Norte, and police hustled him into a local jail for Berlin.

Reports from Buenos Aires described him as Horst Fuldner, an Argentine-born merchant of German parentage. He was seized aboard the German ship Antonio De Pina, on route to South America, and transferred to the Cap Norte in mid-ocean. Police here and in Berlin would give no information about the man, while the foreign office at Berlin, the Argentine consul at Hamburg, the Argentine legation at Berlin and the steamship company were likewise silent.

The foreign office, however, declined to deny a case of foreign exchange violation might be involved.

The dead are Robert Holley, 40, the plumber, and Mrs. Lucille Stevens, 28.

JAP PRESS IS GAGGED IN SHANGHAI CRISIS

Tokyo Hints of Possibility of Armed Pressure in Shanghai Incident.

TOKYO, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Police forbade newspapers today to publish anything concerning military forces "which may be sent to China" except in official communications, indicating the possibility of armed pressure in the deepening Sino-Japanese crisis.

A foreign office spokesman said, however, Japan contemplated no military action at Shanghai because of anti-Japanese incidents for the present.

The foreign office spokesman said Tokyo might have to sternly warn Nanking against the incident, but expressed hope they would be settled locally at Shanghai.

[At Shanghai, the Japanese press printed reports that a Japanese school girl had been stoned by a Chinese youth. Meanwhile, the Japanese consul general protested against smashing the window of a Japanese-owned store, and again called the attention of the mayor of Greater Shanghai, General Wu Teh-chun, to the killing of a Japanese marine Saturday.]

A spokesman for the Nanking government claimed the window-breaking was "a deliberate attempt to embarrass the proceedings of the 'Kuomintang.'" The Kuomintang is the Chinese nationalist party, whose fifth congress opened at Nanking today, under the protection of large forces of gendarmes who planned to prevent any attempts on the lives of government leaders, like the recent effort to assassinate Premier Wang Ching-wei.

Well-informed quarters in Peking understood Major General Benji Dohara, Japanese officer who arrived there today, brought a plan for making North China autonomous. He was expected to confer during the week with various Chinese leaders.

At Tientsin, Japanese newspapers stated Chinese circles originated the report that abolition of the Peking military council, headed by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, will come within a few days.

Tientsin observers saw a speeding up of North China's financial separation from Nanking, in the actions of bankers and government officials with the approval of Japanese military authorities who followed steps to prevent drainage of north China's silver reserves because of the program for nationalization of silver instituted by the national government at Nanking.]

SHANGHAI (Wednesday), Nov. 13.—(AP)—Stimulated by repeated representations by Japanese authorities, international settlement and Chinese police today redoubled their efforts to track down the perpetrators of the anti-Japanese riot which followed their arrest has been requested by a Japanese consular attaché. Most eagerly sought is the assailant of Hideo Nakayama, Japanese marine, killed last Saturday night. Energetic search is being made, too, for demonstrators who broke windows in a Japanese-owned store in Nanking road.

Meantime the Japanese Consul-General T. Ishii has earnestly enjoined the Japanese community to remain calm. His admonition followed an urgent meeting of Japanese residents, who adopted resolutions proposing measures for the protection of their lives and property, for submission to him.

Ishii reported that his calls on General Wu Teh-chun, mayor of Greater Shanghai, and Sterling Fessenden, American chairman of the Shanghai municipal council, has been productive of results.

Both promised to make "sincere efforts" to guard against the recurrence of such incidents, he said, "fully realizing the possibility of serious complications."

The Japanese press bitterly attacked settlement authorities for failure to arrest the culprits, and demanded wholesale reorganization of the international administration.

The trial will continue this morning.

GENUINE PURE ASPIRIN

Wiley Moore Jr. Thinks Russia Lacks Freedom; Admires Jap Girls.

War-ridden Ethiopia was about the only country Wiley "Pinkie" Moore Jr. missed in a hasty, exciting trip around the world. Stepping from the Piedmont in Italy yesterday, he spoke hurriedly of his journey as friends jostled him through the gates at the terminal station. Since June 22 he has traveled 85,000 miles through 30 countries.

"We were near enough to Ethiopia once to swim ashore, but few boats are stopping in that country," he said. "The sea around there is seething with ships and there seems to be the same excitement as in Italy."

Soldiers are seen everywhere in Italy, he said. Billboards and posters are littered with Mussolini's proclamations. The harbors of Naples and Venice were thick with ships. He was surprised, he said, to see that most Italian soldiers were youths between the ages of 18 and 22.

"I tried to see Mussolini but failed," Moore said. "I heard he makes few public appearances. I did see his estate. There are five houses on it and the public is kept from knowing in what house he lives."

Moore traveled through most countries on the continent, to South America, to the Philippines, Hawaii, Japan, China and India. His father, at the train yesterday, said he gave his son the trip for making the honor roll at the University of Georgia for two years. Pinkie sailed soon after his graduation last June.

He said the only rough weather of the trip came yesterday, when he stepped from the train near the end of Atlanta's downtown. He even found London without its fog and the seas were always calm, both in the North sea and in the tropics, he said.

The Atlanta said he found Russia a country of restrictions and red tape. Gens were required by law to accompany tourists everywhere. Sight-seers were often kept from public buildings. He added it seemed to have less freedom than any other country.

He said he found girls in Japan "lively attractive to the western eye" and "swell dancers." Both Japan and China seemed to have millions of children between the ages of 2 and 6, for they were seen in every door and window. As for the country having the prettiest women, he thinks "the United States, especially down south, has all the countries beat when you take them by and large."

ANN HARDING DENIES ISLAND ENGAGEMENT
HONOLULU, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Blonde Ann Harding denied today that she is engaged to Major General M. Sawbridge—and explained how those romantic rumors may have started.

The film star said she might be forced to find "some other island" as a vacation spot if her name continues to be linked with that of the major, stationed at Schofield barracks, near here.

"When I was here before," she said, "I used his car. I have been out this trip with other officers, but still that story persists until I can hardly be civil to Major Sawbridge."

"In all truth there is absolutely nothing to it."

Miss Harding is booked to leave for San Francisco Friday.

Getting Your Money's Worth

No. 8 of a series of messages in the interest of better advertising

How do you spend your income? Does it make any difference to you what you buy with it? What is your aim in spending money? Why would you like to have more income to spend?

You could probably exist on a small fraction of the amount of money which you think it necessary to spend. The actual necessities of life are really a great deal less than most people suppose. The only things that can strictly be called necessities are the plainest kind of nourishment, any old clothes to protect the body, and a reasonably comfortable place to sleep. Why should anybody want more?

Yet everyone does want more than these bare necessities of life. The reason is simply that besides keeping alive and well, we also want to enjoy life and be happy. When we spend money for things above the subsistence level, we select articles which we believe will do most to help make life more pleasant. The test of how wisely you spend this part of your income is in the amount of happiness you get from it. No one but yourself can judge whether you are getting your money's worth.

Theorists often try to classify articles as to their usefulness, and criticize certain kinds of consumer expenditures as economic waste. As a matter of fact, all expenditures that do not help to sustain life or increase production might be called economic waste. But who is to judge what kind of waste is undesirable and what kind will promote the happiness and well-being of the people? It is up to each individual to decide for himself how he can best get his money's worth—how he should spend his income to obtain the greatest amount of physical and spiritual satisfaction.

The world is full of opportunities for spending money. Daily you see and hear the advertising of a multitude of commodities, some of which appeal to you very much and some of which you do not care about at all. After you have provided for the bare necessities, your next interest is in finding out what additional things are likely to please you most.

The information you want is spread before you in the form of advertising. Besides describing the many articles which are for sale, advertising also suggests how each of them can help to make your life more pleasant. Good advertising gives you more than the specifications of a product. It tells what you need to know in deciding how to get your real money's worth in terms of personal satisfaction and spiritual pleasure.

You probably already know what extra things you would buy if your income were suddenly increased. Advertising has helped to make up your mind in advance. It has kept you informed about progress in making new conveniences and providing new sources of pleasure for the mind and body. Informative advertising serves to keep you abreast of the latest developments in modern civilization. It is an indispensable aid in getting your money's worth.

'SCOTTSBORO' YOUTHS GO BEFORE JURY TODAY

U. S. Ruling Makes New Indictment Necessary; Negroes on Rolls.

SCOTTSBORO, Ala., Nov. 12.—(AP)—From its starting point nearly five years ago, "the Scottsboro case" tonight had been moved back to Jackson county, where a new grand jury tomorrow will again investigate the alleged mass attacks on two white women on March 25, 1931.

The venire of 36 from which the 18-man grand jury will be selected, contained the names of two negroes, the first to be called in Jackson circuit for many years, but whether they will serve was not known.

Lieutenant Governor Thomas E. Knight Jr., special prosecutor retained by the state, said he would call as many witnesses as necessary, and would ask that true bills be returned against the nine negro defendants charging them with attacking Mrs. Victoria Price and Ruby Bates.

Mrs. Price has appeared in all seven trials in the case thus far, but the Bates girl after appearing in the first four here in April, 1931, two years later at Decatur, repudiated her previous testimony. She asserted she was not molested. Lieutenant Governor Knight said the grand jury would be informed her whereabouts are unknown.

New indictments were made necessary under a decision of the United States supreme court last March.

The nation's highest tribunal held that there had been "systematic exclusion" of negroes from the grand and trial juries in Jackson and Morgan counties, where the trials were held under a change of venue.

Samuel S. Leibowitz, representing the defendants, had contended the absence of negroes from the jury rolls in the two counties violated their constitutional rights.

LIBRARIANS MEET

Committee Meetings End Convention Today.

Committee meetings will be held by the Southeastern and Southwestern Library Associations at their final session in the Biltmore hotel today. General discussion sessions, started yesterday and Monday by 60 librarians and librarian educators, ended last night.

Education for school library service and employment under southern association standards were discussed at sessions presided over by Louis R. Wilson, president of the American Library Association. Eleanor M. Whitmer, member of the board of education for librarianship, discussed the future of libraries. Open forums were led by Charles H. Stone, of the southeastern association, and Lois F. Shortess, of the southwestern association.

ALLEGED THUGS NAMED IN JURY INDICTMENTS

A gang of negro alleged robbers was indicted yesterday by the grand jury in regular session.

Named in one true bill were John Moseley, Willie Mitchell, John Smith and Willie James, alias "Milky Way," charged with robbing R. W. Pearson of $50 on October 26. Moseley and Mitchell were indicted for robbing Andrew Brandon of $2 on the same date and Moseley was named in a true bill for assault with intent to murder City Patrolman J. W. Cody, who was wounded when the negro was arrested. All the negroes were indicted for stealing the automobile of John L. Wray and for having pistols.

The grand jury returned no bills to clear Annie Doris Jones and P. L. Lipscomb, both negroes, of murder charges, but Willie Range, alias "Money King," negro, was indicted for the murder of Charlie Favors on November 2.

Leslie Joseph, a negro, was indicted by the grand jury of larceny from the house of Mrs. E. R. Gunby, who said he stole $200 in cash and a check for $114 from her residence.

FEDERAL PRISON CLERK IS NAMED IN WARRANT

H. F. Frick, veteran chief clerk at the federal penitentiary here, was charged yesterday in a warrant with making false entries in public records. He was suspended Monday, pending an investigation of his accounts, on an order of Sanford Bates, director of the Bureau of Prisons of the Department of Justice.

The chief clerk was reported yesterday as out of the city, but was expected by officials to return late last night to surrender. Department of Justice agents have been investigating an alleged $7,500 shortage at the penitentiary for the last several weeks.

FLORIDA EXTRADITION WARRANT IS REFUSED

Governor Talmadge yesterday rejected the application of Governor Sholtz, of Florida, for the extradition of J. L. Alston, of Blakely, Ga., wanted in Florida for alleged desertion of minor children and on an assault and battery case. Alston appeared before the Governor and submitted proof that he was caring for the children. The assault charge, he added, was made merely in an effort to get him back into Florida.

The Governor yesterday received an application for the extradition of A. D. Brockett, of Atlanta, wanted in Jacksonville on a bad check charge. No action was taken on this case.

CHAMBER JOINS DRIVE FOR AUTO TAX SLASH

Pointing out that automobiles are a business necessity and not a luxury, the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce has unanimously endorsed the national campaign for reduction of taxation of auto owners. It was announced yesterday by W. R. Ulrich, secretary.

In a letter addressed to John T. Flynn, magazine writer, the chamber declared Atlanta leaders would participate in the campaign for the tax reduction.

I GOT COLIC

"Don't think I'm a cry baby. But I have gas and sour stomach, and that most always gives me the colic. My mama just ran to the drug store to get some TEETHINA for me, because TEETHINA is the mildest, safest laxative for little babies. It cleanses my stomach by gently flushing my little bowels. This relieves the pain and relaxes my body, and Mother Nature can then put me to sleep. TEETHINA only costs 80c the box of 12 pleasant tasting powders, and my mama also recommends it as a soothing relief for us teething babies when improper feeding upsets our stomachs."

LEO STRAUSS DIES

Atlanta Businessman Drops Dead in Waycross.

Leo G. Strauss, widely-known Atlanta businessman, vice president and secretary in charge of sales of the Rita Dress Company, dropped dead yesterday morning in a hotel at Waycross, Ga. He was en route to Florida on a business trip. Death followed a heart attack, physicians said.

Mr. Strauss, who was a native of Marienbad, Austria, had been a resident of Atlanta more than 30 years. He was well known throughout Georgia and the southeast.

Surviving are his wife, the former Miss Beniah G. Haas, whom he married in Atlanta 26 years ago; three brothers, D. H. and Oscar R. Strauss, of Atlanta, and Emil Strauss, of Dallas, Texas; a sister, Mrs. Morris Eisenman, and two sons, Edgar C. and Carolyn Strauss.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by Sam R. Greenberg & Company.

Farley To Speak.

HARROGATE, Tenn., Nov. 12.—(AP)—Lincoln Memorial University officials announced today that Postmas-

Woman To Mark Day Deeded by Stevenson

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Mrs. Bourke Cockran will put on her party clothes and entertain at dinner tomorrow in celebration of her birthday—the birthday Robert Louis Stevenson deeded to her.

Forty-four years ago Mrs. Cockran, then a little girl living in Samoa, complained to Neighbor Stevenson she never had a birthday like other children because she had been born on Christmas Day.

The author drew up a deed which cited that, whereas little Annie H. Ide had been "born, out of all reason, on Christmas Day" and, whereas she had "no further use for a birthday," he transferred to her his "rights and privileges in the thirtieth day of November, formerly my birthday."

The birthday would go to the President of the United States, he said, should she fail to "enjoy the same in her customary manner, by the sporting of fine raiment, eating of rich meats and receipts of gifts, compliments and copies of verse, according to the manner of our ancestors."

James A. Farley will speak at the university here Monday in a celebration of Lincoln's Gettysburg address.

DODGE COUNTY RAPPED ON SCHOOL ACCOUNTS

State Auditor Tom Wisdom yesterday reported to Governor Talmadge "no local school district in Dodge county is complying with the laws found in the school code prescribing the method of account keeping."

The auditor said this was revealed by audits of the county and various school district boards. He suggested those in charge be called together and the code pointed out to them.

Despite the situation the auditor said he found the condition of the county school board "improved considerably." He said this was due to the payment made by the state on old appropriations and by the board settling a number of debts by paying 25 per cent.

MRS. GEORGE W. RAMEY FUNERAL RITES HELD

Final rites for Mrs. George W. Ramey, wife of George Ramey, retired executive of the Atlantic Steel Company, were held yesterday at the graveside in Newnan cemetery with Dr. J. W. Johnson in charge.

Mrs. Ramey, a member of the St. Mark Methodist church and a widely-known Atlantian, died Sunday at the residence, 701 Myrtle street. She was a native of Newnan.

BANDITS FORCE AUTO TO CURB, ROB WOMAN

Police yesterday were seeking two men who held up an Atlanta woman in her automobile, escaping with $15 and a wedding ring.

The victim, Mrs. Agnes Reagin, 944 Longley avenue, N. W., reported the holdup yesterday.

Mrs. Reagin told police she was driving past Lucille and Holderness streets, S. W., when a green sedan, which had been parked at the intersection, followed her machine.

The other machine forced her to the curb at Ashby street near Simpson street. Two men, each with a flashlight and a blackjack, got out of the car and robbed her.

After cautioning her not to "say anything," the bandits fled. The holdup occurred about 11:30 o'clock Monday night.

FOUR STUDENTS HURT IN BUS-TRUCK CRASH

Four Panthersville High school students were slightly injured and several others were jolted yesterday when the school bus in which they were riding collided with a truck.

The accident occurred at Wesley Chapel and Austin roads, five miles from Decatur. The injured students, none of whom is more than 17 years old, were treated by Dr. C. L. Allgood, Stone Mountain road.

They are Sarah Winslett, Frances White, Annie Laurie Patterson and Christine Newsome. All suffered cuts and bruises. The bus was en route to the school when the accident occurred. W. E. Stewart drove the bus, and Rebie Miller, negro, drove the truck, according to police. Neither was injured, but both vehicles were badly damaged.

RESERVE OFFICERS ASSIGNED TO DUTIES

Dr. Thomas W. Long, of Grady hospital, a first lieutenant in the medical corps reserve, was assigned to 19th evacuation hospital, the reserve headquarters announced yesterday.

Captain John T. Linney, 646 Cascade avenue, S. W., was placed in supply point of Atlanta; First Lieutenants Charles A. Eberhart and Clyde W. Whitworth, both of Atlanta, in 43rd general hospital, and Captain Walton L. Traynham, 630 Holderness street, S. W., in mobilization area No. 3.

The 541st ordnance company was the assignment given Captain Charles S. Paulin, 279 Fifth street, N. W., while the following Atlantians were assigned to fourth quartermaster regiment: Captain Hall S. Crain Jr., 228 Candler building, and First Lieutenant Fred H. Floyd, 481 Pinetree drive.

Captain Joseph A. Grax, chaplain reserve, of Jefferson, Ga., was assigned to the 67th coast artillery as regimental chaplain.

Tech Banks on Preston's Return; Aerial Game Seen at Athens

BREAK O'DAY!

By Ralph McKee

Gosh, I'm glad to have tickets to the show. I mean that show over in the outdoor theater at Athens where the L. S. U. and Georgia squads of football dramatists will present next Saturday afternoon that famous drama entitled, "Touchdown, Touchdown, My Kingdom for a Touchdown!"

It's going to be quite a show. There are some 1,500 cadets coming from L. S. U., the old war college. And they will present a snappy drill between halves and will march on the field before the game in emulation of the West Point cadets.

And between halves the band of 165 pieces, including plenty of the boys carrying the big Oomph horns will do their stunts.

Now and then I have an idea that the band boys think football games are held just to show that the band knows how to spell, but the show Saturday should be good.

I like the L. S. U. publicity. They list six ends and then follows the succinct phrase—"All ends are rated usable units. Average age: 21 years, 2 months. Average weight: 180 pounds. Average height: 6 feet, 1-2 inch. Starting pair: Tinsley and Barrett. Second pair: Millich and Dumas. Third pair: Myrick and Humphrey."

And so on through the six guards, the three centers, the 12 backs and the six tackles.

"All backs are usable units—All guards are usable units—man, that sounds impressive. And no doubt is."

And that's what this corner has been writing about from time to time in discussing the ideal football set-up—three men for each position—all "usable units" and not just a skinny boy who is thrown in there to the wolves when no one else is available.

This L. S. U. outfit stacks up as a big-time organization in its publicity—its team—its band—

And its habit of taking a thousand or so students about a thousand miles or so to see a football game.

THE ENTERTAINER.

And not only that, but L. S. U. has Mr. Harry Costello, its publicity agent, here for an entire week as an entertainer for the football writers of our town.

He has about entertained them to death, at that, and here it is just Wednesday. Harry Costello is one of the boys who never tires and he can sing Irish songs about Paddy Murphy's wake, which contains a perfectly terrible line about where they got the ice for the beer at the wake. He never tires.

But I suspected Harry Costello was here on a mission. Yesterday he confessed. He is to try and dissipate the idea that L. S. U. is such a powerful team it will take the Georgia Bulldogs apart on Saturday.

"You ought to see how worried Bernie Moore is," he said. "He's worried about this game."

"Harry Mehre can give him cards and spades and out-worry him," said I.

"I'm not joking," he said, "Bernie is afraid he's going to lose this one."

"So is Harry Mehre."

"Can't we make L. S. U. the underdog?" he asked.

"The Bulldogs of Athens are the underdog Bulldogs," said I, "and that's all that can be done about it."

"Which team will win?" asked Costello.

"I am the only man in the world who thinks Georgia will win," said my reporter.

"That's great," said he, "wait until I call Bernie."

Costello is an artist at the glad-hand, high-pressure salesmanship stuff. A real artist, is Harry Costello.

He was hired by the late Huey Long as a personal publicity man and he did a great job.

Curious thing, he looks a great deal like Huey Long. And the day Huey Long was shot, Harry Costello twice had his hand on the door knob of the door. Had he walked out—but each time someone called him back.

He's getting L. S. U. in the papers. But there isn't a chance to rate the underdog role.

RAIN HAMPER TECH WORKOUT; LINDSAY HURT

Alex Hopes Big Center Will Be Ready for Alabama.

By Jack Troy.

It all depends on how the injured knee of Charley Preston, Tech's big and able center, comes around this week as to whether the Jackets will be in a position to give Alabama's Big Red Elephants much trouble Saturday on Legion field in Birmingham. Preston's presence back of the line means much on defense. He is a keen diagnostician against passes and is a great boy to have in there to tackle hard runners who break through. So it means much to Tech to have Preston back. He missed the Auburn game. There is no question that Auburn would have won anyway, but Preston's presence would have helped. Coach W. A. Alexander is not sure if Preston will be sufficiently recovered to play against Alabama. But he is very hopeful that the big fellow will be back in shape by the end of the week.

WILCOX MISSED.

The Jackets have sorely missed John Wilcox, regular right guard, who injured a knee before the North Carolina game. Wilcox is still hurt. He may and may not be ready. Bud Lindsay came out of the Auburn game with an injured shoulder. He will be held out of all rough work this week and may be able to start. Lindsay has played splendidly at tackle all season.

The Tech players are not bowing to the inevitable. They know what Alabama has to offer but despite limited resources and the hard pounding of the previous games, they have no idea of conceding Alabama anything, except, perhaps, Riley Smith.

ILL-FATED TEAM.

There is a pretty good Tech team. It has come up at times during the season with an unbeatable team. There have been adverse breaks that might have given them wins instead of losses.

And the weary Jackets, worn by pounding but still cheerful and ready for anything, can be depended upon to make it extremely interesting for the Tuscaloosans.

The Jackets donned track training suits yesterday, in view of the rainy condition of the weather. A long workout was held in the gymnasium.

Defense will be stressed by the Engineers this week. Tech has a strong line when all the parts thereof are in good working order. And, should Preston return on Saturday, the Jackets will be prepared to make a real battle of it.

Alabama Drills In Hard Rain.

UNIVERSITY, Ala., Nov. 12.—(AP)—Alabama's Crimson Tide got a chance to see what slippery footing and a wet soggy football means today as Coach Frank Thomas sent his charges through a still drill in the rain.

Coach Thomas kept the Crimson inside yesterday, but he sent them out paddling in the rain to accustom them to handling a slippery ball.

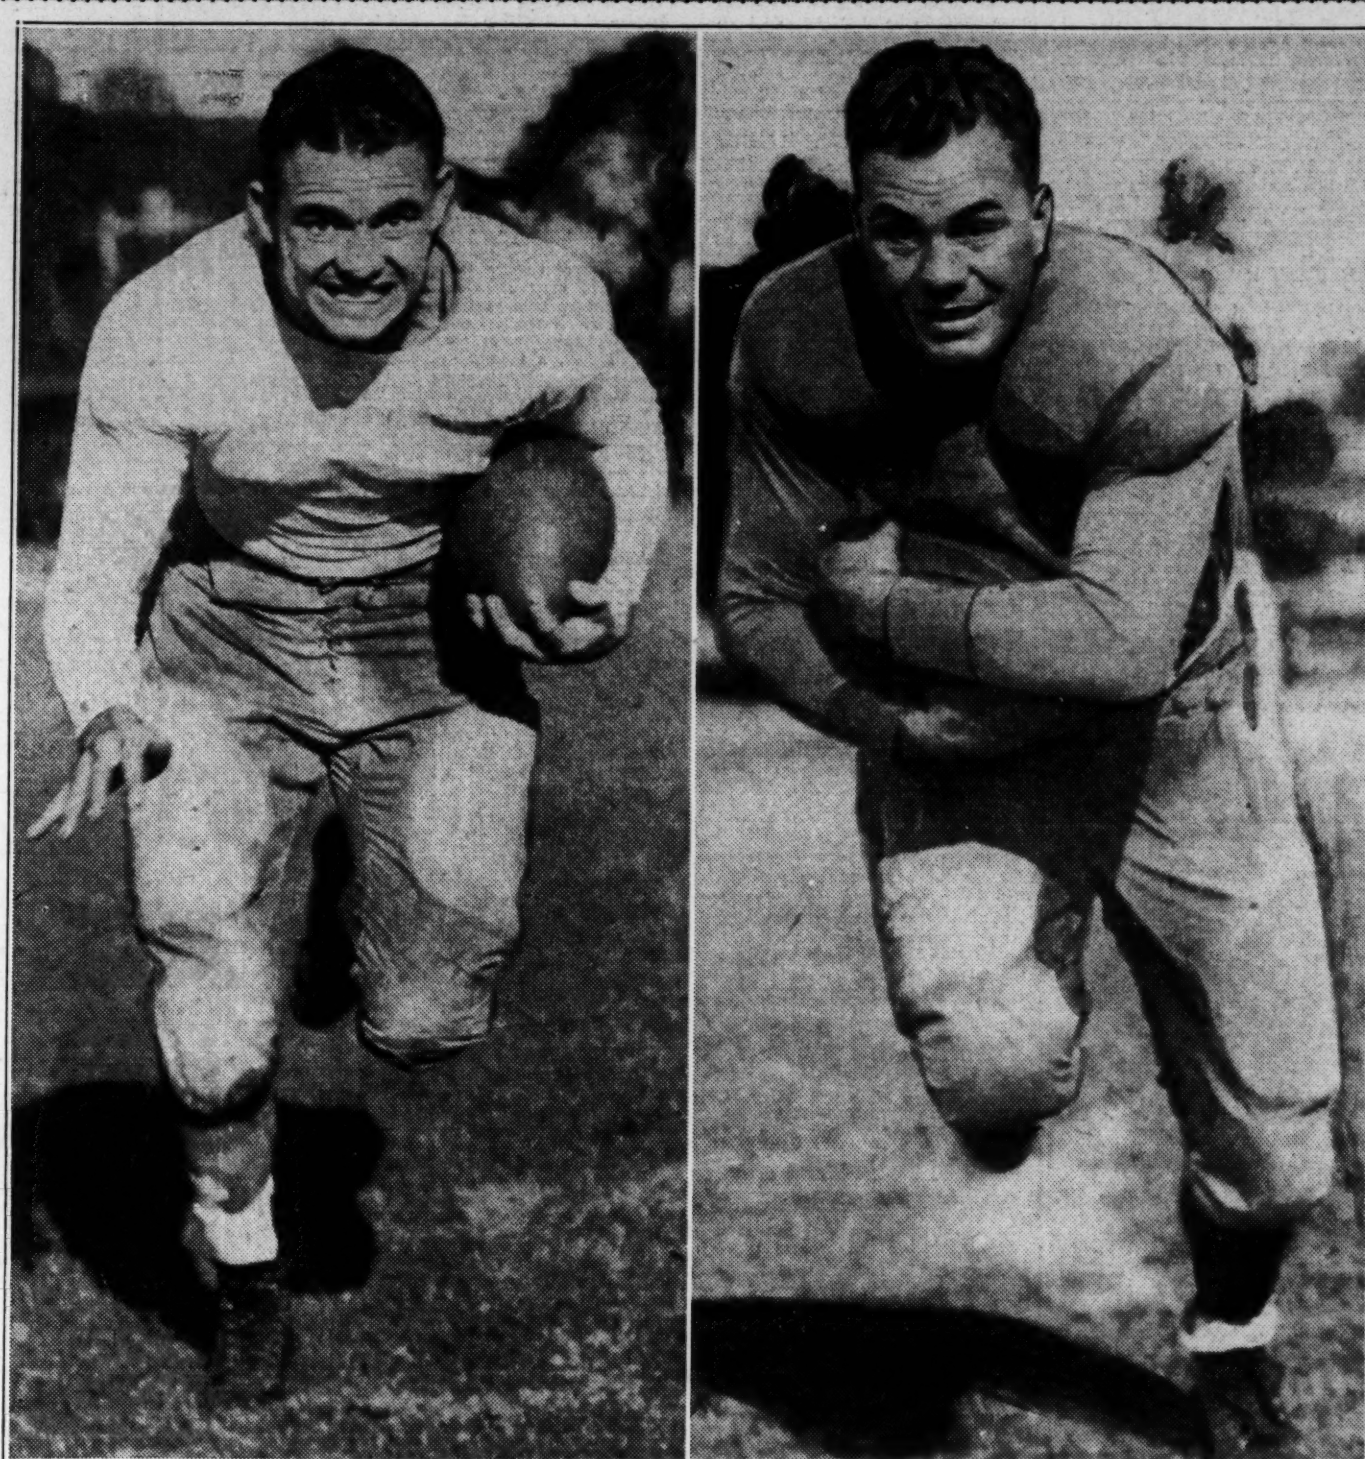

Paul (Bear) Bryant out last week with an injured leg worked out today, as did Joe Riley, injured Saturday, but Bill Peters, guard, and Bill Young, tackle, are definitely out of the Georgia Tech game Saturday.

Riley Smith, injured in pre-season practice, and hampered by boils, is in the best condition of the season, ready to go Saturday. He has missed only the opening game this year, but injuries have hampered him.

Wildcats Accept Manhattan Game

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 12.—(AP)—Coach Chet Wynne said today Kentucky has accepted an invitation from Manhattan College to play in New York city next fall and that a contract for the football game probably would be signed soon. Other teams on Kentucky's tentative 1938 schedule include Washington & Lee, Georgia Tech, Auburn and Tennessee.

Georgia Must Hold These L. S. U. Tigers at Athens Saturday

These formidable looking Louisiana State football players, left to right, Jess Fatheree, left halfback, and Ernie Seago, quarterback. Both have played a big part in the Tigers' unbeaten march to date. And Saturday they will be strong forces in L. S. U.'s drive against the Georgia Bulldogs at Athens. A great crowd will be on hand to see if the Bulldogs can stop the Bayou Bengal and really scramble the race for Southeastern conference championship. Should Georgia win, Harry Mehre's team would have as good a chance as any team to win the title. Special photos.

Hanley Denies He's To Coach At Fordham

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Dick Hanley was heartbroken when he lost his football coaching job at Northwestern defeat Notre Dame for the first time in 34 years Saturday.

"What are there to these reports that you will coach Fordham next year?" he was asked.

"Aha, nothing to that one," he replied with a wide grin. "And you can deny any other reports for me officially as soon as you read them. Some day, I might take a coaching job, but if I do I'll be strictly with the understanding that I do so as part time."

Bernie Moore Bemoans S.M.U. Points A La Bernie Bierman

L. S. U. Coach Still Worried; Tiger Publicity Man Recalls a Weird Grid Game.

By Jack Troy.

"The situation," said Mr. Harry Costello, advance agent for the Bayou Bengal, "is still the same as when I last saw you. By the way, where have you been so long and why did you miss hearing the story of Tipton No. 10 and Tipton No. 12?"

One thing coming at a time, the idea of popping back in to take advantage of the extraordinary hospitality of the L. S. U. publicity man and raconteur was to determine once again L. S. U.'s feeling as regards the Georgia game at Athens Saturday.

"The situation is just the same," said Costello, the old Georgetown football hero. "Bernie Moore is taking this game so seriously we are considering giving him the nickname of a famous coach who left Tulane and went to Minnesota, Mister Bemoaning Bernie Bierman."

The story of the two coal mining teams that played for the world's coal mining championship at Connelville, Pa., in 1921 goes down as one of the greatest in football.

It was back in the days when only three officials were used. Glenn (Pop) Warner was coaching at Pittsburgh and he was tops with the people of the section.

COSTELLO NAMED. So Pop was asked to recommend three competent officials and he gave the names of Robert (Tiny) Maxwell, referee; Harry Costello, umpire, and John Hallahan, field judge.

The sky was the limit as regarded expense. So, on the Tuesday before the game, Costello left Detroit, went by way of Boston and Philadelphia, and finally reached Connelville the morning of the game. On the way he had picked up Maxwell and Hallahan. Tiny Maxwell stuttered. And on the morning of the game the three officials were seated in their hotel room when suddenly there came a rap on the door and in walks Mickey Riley, the local gambler. Riley was wearing a pearl gray dicer, pearl spats, a checked suit and a multi-colored vest.

DOWN TO BUSINESS. After confirming the fact that the three were officials for the game, Riley got down to the business at hand. "Gentlemen," the cocky little Irishman said, "I am here to discuss the rules of the game today. Now, I think that if a player on Tipton No. 10 should strike a player on Tipton No. 12 with his fist, that it's perfectly all right. But should a player on Tipton No. 12 take his foot and kick a player on Tipton No. 10 in the face, Tipton No. 12 should be penalized at least 5 yards."

Maxwell, a huge man, assured Riley the game would be handled all right from the officiating end and bid him good day.

And they were sitting around when the noise of a band attracted Maxwell to the window. Tipton No. 10, with a 10-piece brass band, was parading. They were carrying banners bearing playful little promises, such as "We will kill Jones, right end, on Tipton No. 12."

S-S-S-SWEET GAME. Tiny Maxwell (said Costello) turned from the window. "S-s-s-say, this is going to be a s-s-s-sweet game."

Shortly after another band was heard. Maxwell walked back to the room with a brass band, was parading. They were carrying banners bearing playful little promises, such as "We will kill Smith, right halfback, on Tipton No. 10."

"S-s-s-see," stuttered Maxwell, "I

Tech, Ga. Sought For Charity Game

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Father Charles P. Maxwell, announcing his annual "boys' work" charity football game would be played December 7, said today he was negotiating with Temple, Pittsburgh, Vanderbilt, Alabama, Georgia and Georgia Tech.

The local opponent will be either Washington, St. Louis or Missouri university. Last year Washington played Southern Methodist University in the charity game.

S.M.U. Points For Bowl Bid After Victory

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 12.—(AP)—The cry was "On to the Rose Bowl!" tonight among followers of Southern Methodist University's unbeaten football team.

But while the team, fresh from its 21-0 conquest of University of California at Los Angeles, sped homeward by train, disturbing reports sifted through from the Pacific slope.

The reports said a team west of the Mississippi never has been invited to play in the Tournament of Roses classic on New Year's Day.

Backers of Coach Matty Bell's "aerial circus" sarcastically confessed, however, that they did not recall a Mississippi river ever being listed as a natural barrier to a Rose Bowl in California.

Coach Bell himself quietly spoke the sentiments of his fans when he announced recently they would seek to set a precedent.

"We most certainly would like to have a chance at the Rose Bowl, river or no river. And who wouldn't? My boys have a rough schedule to beat, but we'll be gunning for the honor."

The police and firemen's band, the mayor and city council, the chamber of commerce and the "sidewalk quarterbacks" will gather at Union station tomorrow to roar welcome to a team that has scored 217 points against the enemy's 12 to rank second offensively and defensively among the nation's better teams.

CAPACITY CROWD IS EXPECTED TO VIEW BATTLE

Rain Halts Practice; Scrimmage Set for Today by Mehre.

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 12.—A fierce overhead battle between two eleven-man squads of football dramatists attacking is forecast by Athletic Director Stegeman for Saturday when Georgia's Bulldogs tangle with L. S. U.'s Bayou Tigers here.

This L. S. U. team will present a truly terrific general admission ticket for $2.50. Only a short while after the squad trotted on the field and were drilling on punting and pass work, rain set in. And spending about an hour in the field house awaiting a letup, the squad returned to Memorial hall gymnasium, where a lecture closed the afternoon.

GREAT CROWD.

With the spotlight of the Southeastern conference turned on Athens, one of the season's largest crowds in the south is predicted Saturday. A capacity turnout of 30,000 is expected to be on hand from pregame ticket sales. Tickets may be purchased from Rich's in Atlanta, Costa's in Athens, or from Charles Martin, athletic business manager here. Reserve seats are selling for $2.50. General admission tickets sell for $1.50. The game will get under way at 2:30 o'clock (eastern standard time).

As both teams are equipped with strong defenses, a great exhibition is on tap. Georgia's counter-attack should be at its best in the game. The Tigers' capabilities on defense are unquestioned since it has held firmly Mississippi State crossed the L. S. U. goal line twice Saturday but the Bulldogs got the best of it, rolling up 28 points to the Maroons' 13.

A triumph over the Moore-coached Tigers would once more give the Bulldogs a shot at the Southeastern conference title. A loss to Alabama dampened hope for a title but did not snuff it out completely. As the Bulldogs were at their best against Tulane it is hoped that the "natural" letdown will not come next Saturday.

SEAL DOOM.

If they lose to L. S. U. it will virtually seal the Bulldogs' doom as several teams already are ahead of them. If the Red and Black wins it will still mean a rocky road is ahead for the title. Auburn and Tech will still be in the way. And folk here are not taking Auburn nothing but seriously even several weeks in advance. The Tech game where "anything can happen" is counted a hard one, also.

If the weather holds up the squad will probably get a scrimmage Wednesday afternoon.

Charles Harts was back in uniform this afternoon after having been out several weeks. He will not be ready to play Saturday, however. Bill Hartman and Lew Young will be keyed up for the game after a sojourn on the injury roster.

Henry Wagon with a pulled ligament and Charlie Treadaway with a twisted elbow are the only minor casualties in camp. Both will be raring to play Saturday.

Extravagant Claim or Statement of Fact?

ALMOST every cigar claims mildness. Almost every cigar advertisement talks of fine tobacco and lays stress on "Havana," be there much or little in the cigar. No matter what the price, it claims high-grade quality.

And El Producto claims mildness—it is blended of choice tobaccos, including fine Havana—it is Quality—not only in the tobaccos, but in the way it is made and the way in which it smokes.

Smoking one El Producto will tell you whether or not that statement is an extravagant claim or statement of fact.

For nineteen years, smokers have backed El Producto's claim to Quality for real enjoyment by making it the most popular high-grade cigar in the country. Test the soundness of their judgment by trying El Producto yourself.

Nation's Gridiron Leaders Face Stern Opposition Saturday

BEATEN TEAMS TO 'SHOOT ALL' AT UNDEFEATED

Duke Threatens Record of Tarheels; Gophers 'Fear' Michigan.

By Alan Gould.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—(AP)—There's no armistice this week on the college gridiron battlefield. With the exception of California and Princeton, which have relatively light assignments next Saturday, the top flight of unbeaten and undefeated teams faces a heavy barrage.

This applies especially to such leaders as Minnesota, Dartmouth, North Carolina, Syracuse, Marquette and Texas Christian, because all will go up against teams which have nothing new to lose and can consequently "shoot the works." Northwestern, as well as Wisconsin, demonstrated quite impressively last Saturday what can be done by the underdog under such circumstances.

FINGERS CROSSED. Syracuse carries an unblemished record into this Saturday's battle with Colgate, for the third time in five years, but every follower of the Orange has his fingers crossed. It's almost axiomatic that the best Syracuse teams stumble around against Colgate. The Orange hasn't beat the Maroon since 1924.

Minnesota, dominating the middle west for the second straight year, has every reason to "fear" Michigan, especially as the game will be played on the home grounds of the Wolverines at Ann Arbor. Two years ago the Gophers galloped all over the same gridiron but not for touchdowns and were held to a scoreless tie. Last year it took second-half pressure by Lund, Koska and company to beat back a stubborn Michigan defense. The battle for the "little brown jug" this Saturday finds twice-beaten Michigan in an excellent position to spring another big surprise.

TARHEELS VS. DUKE. North Carolina, so far hearing all the earmarks of being the south's "team of the year," runs a similar risk in invading the stronghold of twice-beaten Duke. This is, by all odds, the most critical engagement of the season for the high-powered Tarheels, who have their eyes on the Rose Bowl.

There's terrific sectional rivalry involved. Duke, anxious to avenge previous disappointments, can be depended upon to give North Carolina a terrific argument.

Marquette, side-stepping on good arguments, carries another unbeaten record into action this Saturday, against Temple. On a line through Michigan State, which upset Temple but lost to Marquette, the boys from Milwaukee figure to have an edge but Pop Warner has taken two weeks to prepare the reception and make it a warm one.

Notre Dame's winning streak has been snapped but that won't keep the biggest crowd of the eastern season from pouring into the Yankee stadium to see the fighting Irish renew a colorful rivalry with Army's twice-beaten team. If Andy Pilney is back in the lineup, the expected gathering of 80,000 should see some fireworks, at West Point's expense.

Louisiana State, if it can turn back Georgia this Saturday, looms as a likely choice to represent the south in the Sugar Bowl game at New Orleans on New Year's Day. There's still room for argument on this subject, however. A defeat for L. S. U. would scramble the entire Southeastern conference situation.

Growing flowers as a business was unknown in America previous to 1925 and as late as 30 years ago it was impossible to buy cut flowers in some of the leading cities.

Milnar Most Valuable Southern Player in '35

Sporting News Committee Names Earle Browne Second; Alex Hooks Receives Votes.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 12.—Holder of three league records and regarded as one of the brightest pitching prospects to emerge from the minors in several years, Al Milnar, mound ace of the New Orleans Pelicans who will attempt to fill Cleveland's long-felt need for a winning southpaw next season, was named the most valuable player to his team in the Southern association in 1935 by a committee of scribes, acting for The Sporting News. The honor, however, did not come easily to Milnar, for Earle Browne, scintillating first baseman of the Little Rock Travelers, was right on his heels, the pitcher edging out the first sacker only by the difference between 56 points and 50, while Andy Reese, first baseman of Memphis, was not far behind.

Twenty-two players were given consideration and ranked as follows, with eight points awarded for a first-place choice and ranging downward to one point for eighth.

Al Milnar, pitcher, New Orleans, 56.
Earle Browne, first baseman, Little Rock, 50.
Andy Reese, first baseman, Memphis, 44.
Harry Kelly, pitcher, Atlanta, 35.
Douglas (Poco) Taft, outfielder, Nashville, 28.
Leland Scott, outfielder, Birmingham, 23.
John Mihalic, second baseman, Chattanooga, 10.
Alex McColl, pitcher, Chattanooga, 9.
James (Tiny) Chaplin, pitcher, Nashville, 9.
Alex Hooks, first baseman, Atlanta, 8.
Eddie Moore, second baseman, Atlanta, 7.
Clarence Blair, second baseman, Knoxville, 7.
Walter Millies, catcher, Chattanooga, 6.
M. G. (Chick) Autry, catcher, New Orleans, 6.
William Duke, outfielder, Memphis, 5.
Joe Martin, third baseman, Nashville, 4.
Earl (Mule) Shirley, first baseman, Nashville, 4.
Doc Miles, outfielder, Chattanooga, 4.
James Henry, pitcher, Memphis, 3.
John Clancy, first baseman, Birmingham, 2.
Lee Head, catcher, Knoxville, 2.
Lindsey Duke, outfielder, Knoxville, 2.

Pitchers led in the choices, five of them gaining 112 points, but first basemen were right behind, with five of them garnering 106 points. Five outfielders were given 92 points; three second basemen, 24; three catchers, 14; and one third baseman four. No shortstop was mentioned.

Browne was the only player to be picked for his team by all nine members of the committee, but was placed first only once. Milnar and Reese won four firsts and the former was named eight times, to seven for Reese. Scott also gained recognition from seven members of the committee; Kelley and Blair were mentioned six times; Taft, five; Mihalic, four; McColl, Chaplin, Millies, Head and Deal, two; the other, one.

Half of the 23 mentioned will receive trials in the major leagues next season, as follows: Milnar, with Cleveland; Browne, Pittsburgh; Kelley, Philadelphia Athletics; Mihalic, McColl and Millies, Washington; Chaplin and Martin, New York Giants; Millies, Brooklyn, and Henry and Deal, Boston Red Sox.

The most valuable player of the Southern association in 1935 has been pitching in organized ball only three seasons, but during that time has run up a record of 59 victories against only 28 defeats. Coming off the sand lots of Cleveland, he broke in with Zanesville in the Middle Atlantic league in 1933, when he won 13 and lost seven. Transferred to New Orleans in 1934 by the Cleveland Indians, who held an option on him, Milnar participated in 42 games, being credited with 22 victories and

ROCHE DEFEATS 'ROUGH RICHARD'

Davy Roche, the Scranton Coal Miner, won over Dick Daviscourt, of California, Tuesday night at the city auditorium. Roche lost the first fall to Daviscourt's leg twist, but lost no time in taking the next two and the opening match.

In the semi-final, Joe Cox, Kansas City, won in straight falls over Whitey Provo, Detroit, and Ellis Bashara, the French Canadian, was given a decision over Bob Stewart, of Texas, in the opening match.

Roche lost no time in giving up the first fall, after nine minutes of fast going. He took no chances on having a leg sprained and saved himself for the remainder of the match. The fall was clocked in nine minutes.

A series of body slams and a body block squared accounts for Roche in 20 minutes and taking the veteran Daviscourt by surprise. Roche won the match in five minutes with a combination body block and arm twist.

PURPLES, T. H. S. CONFINE DRILLS TO BLACKBOARD

Bitter Rivals Welcome Opportunity To Study Set Formations.

By Roy White.

Boys' High and Tech High confined their football practice Tuesday afternoon to lengthy blackboard drills in preparation for Friday night's game at Grant field. Both teams welcomed the opportunity to study various and sundry offenses and defensive methods which will be used Friday.

A practice of theory learned from the blackboard drills will be put into effect in the drills this afternoon at Piedmont park. A long scrimmage is on the schedule in both camps, but it is not likely that any rough work will be attempted.

Both Boys' High and Tech High started their annual practice grind during the middle of August and after three months of steady work, the teams were granted an off-day Monday, and Tuesday worked on blackboard drills.

With the injury list practically diminished, both Boys' High and Tech High will send their strongest line-ups into the game Friday night.

Frank Harrison, who has been unable to play all season has returned to the Tech High backfield, while Bond, Gore and Orenstein, of the Boys' High squad, will be ready for action.

Coaches Doyal and Keith will stick mostly to the same plays that have carried Boys' High to nine straight victories this season. The forward, lateral and wide sweeping and runs, have played havoc with the Purple's opponents this year.

In nine games, Boys' High has scored 271 points against 38 for the opposition and a majority of those 38 points have been scored when the Purple reserves were in the game.

Tech High has scored 124 points against 92 for its opponents in nine games.

Comparative scores give Boys' High a decided advantage but scores mean nothing when Tech High meets its bitter rival.

A victory Friday will give Boys' High the undisputed city and state championships and the Purple's are the only prep team of importance in the state, undefeated and untied.

Columbus with one victory and no defeats holds second place, but will not be recognized in the state standings, due to not having played a sufficient number of games. Richmond Academy, of Augusta; G. M. A. and Riverside Military Academy, of Gainesville, are tied for second place with three wins and one loss each in state competition.

Monroe is third with Commercial and Savannah trailing in fourth place. Benedictine, Tech High and Lanier High follow in order.

Boys' High and Tech High close out their home schedules with the Friday night game.

THE 1935 TIGER MODEL.

The 1935 Princeton Tiger model is just about as good a football team as you will find from Boston to Berkeley, from Minnesota to Tulane. It may be no better than North Carolina in the south, Minnesota in the midwest, Southern Methodist in the southwest, or California on the coast—but it is a stronger all-around combination than Notre Dame or Ohio State happened to be when both were supposed to be at peak form.

In her last three games against Cornell, Navy and Harvard—Navy being no part of a puff ball—Princeton has run up 115 points to 0, pulled up part of the way, drifting from top speed to an easy-going center.

Back of a big, fast, hard-charging line—featuring Cullinan, Weller, Stoes, Toll, Lea, MacMillan and others—the Orange and Black can squand you all the star backs any squad has in the country. Rank, Sandback, White, Spofford, Kaufman and Hill, not overlooking Garry Le Van, who missed the Crimson massacre.

In this Tiger jungle you find all the elements no team in the country could overmatch when it comes to speed, power, skill, poise and experience.

With an attack that can strike with every type of winning thrust along the ground or through the air, it is a much stronger defensive team than Ohio State or Notre Dame, who, in their last two starts, have together yielded 58 points—31 against Ohio and 27 against Notre Dame.

Football is a game where anything can happen at any time—but I can't conceive of any attack strong enough to crack this Tiger barricade for any such returns.

Answering Some Whys and Whats.

What has Princeton done to deserve this autumn chaplet of wild plum blossoms?

Well, Army and Dartmouth together had a 21-point lead over Harvard—Princeton had 25 points. Notre Dame and Yale together led Navy by 15 points—Princeton alone by 26 points.

Syracuse and Columbia together had a seven-point jump over Cornell—Princeton, 54 points.

It is about as fine an all-around squad, "Dick Harlow, of Harvard, told me, "as I have seen in years. Dick Harlow knows his full share of football, from the big days of Penn State through the tryon days of Colgate and on through Western Maryland.

Quality and Quantity.

From every section of the country we get earnest pleas about this star back or that star lineman. Princeton this season can speak in terms of quantity and quality combined.

It would be foolish to say that Princeton could surely beat North Carolina, Minnesota, Southern Methodist or California—to mention four of the best—but it would be just as foolish to say that any one of these four could beat Princeton.

North Carolina And California.

As a result of Saturday's returns,

KLEIN AND HINES LEADING FIELD AT PINEHURST

Mid-South Pro Tourney Will End Today.

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 12.—(AP) Willie Klein and Jimmie Hines set the pace for a strong field of pairs in the mid-south professional best-ball golf tournament today with a 65 which put them three strokes in the van at the half-way point of the 36-hole test.

While the remodeled, long and hazardous No. 2 course withstood the assaults of most of the field, it held no terrors for the Long Island pair. Hines had an approximate 60 on his own ball and Klein a 71. They teamed to knock out a 31 over the outward nine and came back in 34.

The cards:

Far out	444	443	433-36
Klein-Hines out	444	443	342-31
Par in	444	443	342-31
Klein-Hines in	444	443	342-31

Only three other pairs broke 78. Among them were Tommy Armour, of Chicago, and Bobby Cruickshank, Richmond, Va., the favorites and defending titleholders who kept them selves in the running with a 69. Runner-up honors for the day went to a North Carolina pair, Ralph Minor, of New Bern, and Palmer Maples, of Rocky Mount, with 68.

Also at 69 with the Armour-Cruickshank team were Gene Kunes, Norristown, Pa., the Canadian open champion, and Dick Metcalf, Lake Forest, Ill.

A second 18-hole round tomorrow will wind up the best-ball event which carries first prize money of $450. On Thursday and Friday there will be 18-hole rounds of a 36-hole individual open. Prize money for the two events total $2,145.

CLARK WORKING FOR MOREHOUSE

Clark University, greatly improved over their early season mishaps is preparing for the football game that will decide the city championship or have a strong bearing on same this Saturday afternoon at Ponce de Leon park when they meet the undefeated Morehouse College team. The latter is rated as having one of the strongest teams in the conference.

Coach Robinson, of Clark, is planning a new offensive for this game. An aerial attack that is expected to upset the Maroon is in the making.

With two of the best lines in the conference meeting each other Morehouse is a slight favorite to win. Tickets for the game can be purchased at the business office of both schools.

GOULD PLACES S. M. U. FIRST ON GRID LIST

Ranks Tarheels in Fifth
Position, Alabama
Ninth.

By Alan Gould.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Southern Methodist, having received an unimpaired rating for its own class as well as the ruggedness of its football team, placed at the head of the collegiate class in this week's ranking list.

Based upon the performances in the last week-end, here's the revised "top ten" today:

1. Southern Methodist; 2. Princeton; 3. Minnesota; 4. California; 5. North Carolina; 6. Texas Christian; 7. Rice; 8. Louisiana State; 9. Alabama; 10. Notre Dame.

Having survived the barrage that followed our ranking of Princeton at the top last week, over Notre Dame, we have no hesitancy in "plunging" this week on the southwest, which has three entries in the "top flight" and a sectional record, unmatched by any other area of gridiron activity in the country. Taken as a whole the Big Ten is the only conference that can offer the most convincing argument.

"PONY EXPRESS." Southern Methodist's "pony express" turned in the season's most convincing performance in its performance by trouncing the strong U. C. L. A. aggregation at Los Angeles, 21-0, yesterday. This was the eighth straight victory for the Mustangs, no longer to be classified merely as an "accident" but a powerful, well-knit and well-coached outfit. S. M. U. is the only team to defeat Rice, last year's Southwest conference titleholder. The Mustangs turned the trick, 10-0, and also turned Texas its worst beating, 20-0.

Texas Christian, also unbeaten in eight games, remains to bar Southern Methodist's path to Southern honors. They play on November 30.

Princeton, California, North Carolina and Louisiana State all justified their high ratings by last Saturday's decisive performances. Michigan, the Southwest conference titleholder, is no longer under the circumstances, by its show of recuperative power to whip Louisiana.

TARHEEL BALLYHOOD. The ballyhoo of North Carolina's Tarheels, steam-roller of the Southern conference, has been terrific since the past few days. Rival coaches class this high-scoring aggregation with the "Pony Express" and are willing to back them against all comers. Rose Bowl opposition preferred, but it may be just as well to await the outcome of the North Carolina-Duke affair this Saturday at Durham before beating the bass drum out of shape.

Louisiana State, beaten only by Rice in the season's opener, has come along sensationally since then and must be reckoned with in any distribution of Southern honors. It's doubtful if either L. S. U. or Alabama. At any rate, sponsors of the Sugar Bowl game in New Orleans, New Orleans, La., should have no trouble finding a double-barreled, triple-coated attraction, with the south as well as the southwest from which to select Dixie's representative.

LADIES' TOURNEY TO START TODAY

Play in the women's championship golf tournament at Druid Hills gets under way this morning, weather permitting, and will continue through Friday.

In Monday's qualifying rounds, played on a rain-soaked course, Mrs. Guy Butler captured medalist's honors with a 91. Second place was taken by Mrs. Jimmy Burns, who carded a 92.

PAIRINGS FOR THE TOURNAMENT: Mrs. Guy Butler vs. Mrs. W. T. Banning; Mrs. Ray Price vs. Mrs. George Griffin; Mrs. J. C. Wright vs. Mrs. George Griffin; Mrs. Jimmy Burns vs. Mrs. Max Mendel; Mrs. Ben Barrow vs. Mrs. Mark Leonard.

Seniors, Sophs Meet At Emory Today

After a week's layoff due to schedule changes, Emory's intramural football program gets under way again today with the Seniors meeting the last-place Freshmen at 2:30.

The Seniors are tied with the Juniors for first place, each having won three while losing one. The Fresh are yet to score, much less to win a game. But the Greenies have improved with each game and an upset would not be too great a surprise.

Probable lineups:

SENIORS	FRESHMEN
Duncan	W. L. Gifford
Steed	L. C. Gifford
Conner	C. Gifford
Stansman	Freedman
Ginsberg	Kline
Colley	Greenburg
Flanagan	Robinson
Conner	Robinson
Puleston	Hobbs
Reichert	Chotak

Bob Shawkey 'Out' As Newark Manager

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 12.—(AP)—J. Robert "Bob" Shawkey will not manage the Newark International league baseball club next season, an announcement from the office of George Weiss, vice president and general manager, said today.

"Whoever will be the Bears' next season," the announcement said, "will be a man whose sole interest is baseball. J. Robert Shawkey, who has managed the Newark club for the past two seasons, has outside business interests which demand some of his time the year round and this will prevent him from being at the helm in 1936."

JACKSON, Tenn., Nov. 12.—(AP)—"Big Trouble" was the bigwig among the nation's foxhounds tonight. With just one more day to hunt in the National Foxhounds' Association for turkey, he stood ahead of the pack with 245 points.

This great blue-blooded hound from Pikeville, Tenn., kennels of Dr. J. E. Beck came through the rain to show excellent breeding and training for the second successive day.

But today's great spurt was by "Sylvie," a sleek little female owned by L. B. Shouse, of Lexington, Ky., she came from way down the list to finish the day with an aggregate of 220 markers.

L. S. U., Georgia's Next Foe, Is Rated Second in Nation

Minnesota leads the nation in the Williamson football rating for this week. Notre Dame, former leader, dropped to sixth place after the loss to Northwestern.

L. S. U., Georgia's opponent this week in Athens, is in second place and if the Bulldogs can win from Old Lou they will boost their standing by many points. S. M. U., which Monday defeated U. C. L. A.; Rice and T. C. U. all are in the first 10 teams as are Alabama and North Carolina.

Of the first 10 teams, six are either Southern or Southeastern. Tech's opponent, Alabama, is in eighth place, one place ahead of the undefeated Tarheels.

These ratings represent respectively each team's efficiency of consistent performance to date. The ratings do not always indicate a direct gauge of the possible strength of each team. The final ratings of the completed season, however, will in most instances be pretty close to a 100 per cent measure of the strength of the respective teams. The percentage figures below (right-hand column) are the most important. The listing figures (left-hand column) are merely for convenience in giving the fractional differences in order.

CANNIBALS ARE FOUND ON ISLAND IN PACIFIC

French Scientists Describe
Head Hunters as 'Perfect
Gentlemen.'

HONOLULU, Nov. 12.—(AP)—In the brush-filled swamps of Papua, a wild island north of Australia, Captain Eric Bishop, French aviator and scientist, said he found primitive cannibals who were less dangerous than the men of Chicago or Paris.

"These cannibals," said the thin-faced aviator, "are the most perfect gentlemen I have ever found in the world. I felt safer among them than in my native Paris or even your Chicago."

Life among the black men of Papua was one episode in a fantastic epic of the sea related by the French aviator and his companion, Joseph Taitouet.

"We ran onto a sand bar at Prurri Delta, Papua, in July, 1934," he said. "It was during the southwest monsoon, and we had to wait the change in tides before we could refloat the craft."

"For seven months we lived on the fringe of the brush. The natives were very friendly. We talked to them in sign language. They gave us taro and fish and flat bars of tobacco which served them for money."

"They were huge blacks," he said, "with rippling muscles and dark eyes. They hunted heads among neighboring tribes, but not once did they attempt to molest us."

The pair told their bizarre story when residents on the island of Molokai nursed them back to health after their Chinese junk brought them, starving and ragged, to the end of a 749-hour journey from the Marshall Islands.

PAPUAN CANNIBALS DEVOUR TRIBESMAN

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 12.—(UP)—Three Papuan cannibals in the village of Amika, New Guinea, were shot and a tribesman who refused to pay the customary dowry for a newly acquired bride, it was reported today.

The cannibals, who were shot, and shot the third while he was attempting to escape.

All natives of the Ninati district, numbering 900, were placed in a concentration camp because they threatened to go on a head-hunting rampage to avenge the dead bridegroom.

SIX U. S. PLANES HOPE FOR ISLAND IN PACIFIC

HONOLULU, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Six Navy planes hoped today from French Frigate Shoals for a flight to Johnston island, approximately 500 miles southwest.

The squadron was commanded by Captain Kenneth Whiting, commander of the Pearl Harbor air base, who left 41 planes on a flight of 500 miles southwest.

TWO YOUNG NEGROES ARE LYNCHED IN TEXAS

COLUMBUS, Texas, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Two Negro youths charged with slaying a young white woman October 17 were hanged by a mob at Altair, 11 miles south of here tonight, and hanged to a live oak tree a mile from the girl's home.

Before they were hanged, the negroes allegedly made statements involving a third negro. The mob left the bodies hanging and went in search of the third negro.

About 500 men were in the party which took the negroes away from Sheriff Frank Hoemeyer and deputies as they were being brought here from Houston for trial in juvenile court tomorrow. Both were under 17 years old.

Down the Alleys

Ben Hogue was shooting at a league record when he amassed some big games to turn in a set of 372 and topped the Sinclair Refining Company league's bowling Tuesday afternoon. Hogue had games of 91, 148, 133 as he won three games over Dinosaurs, first quarter winners.

R. L. Parrish had 341, Heimerich 325, Barth 316, Jordan 301, Davis 298, Apple 289, Tyler 219. The balance of heavy scoring by the individuals of this fast little pin circuit.

At Baltzer and Pop O'Neil tied for high score in the America Fore Insurance Company league with sets of 372. Baltzer had games of 108, 113, 100 and O'Neil had 100, 113, 114.

A number of good bowlers, both men and women, are being developed in this intercompany league.

There has been considerable discussion and difference of opinion amongst players relative to the substitution of players during a game as to when and how it may be done. Rule 8, Rules and Regulations of the National Duckpin Bowling Congress stipulates that the captain of any team may withdraw any player in any game and substitute up to and including the eighth frame, but the player withdrawn shall not be eligible to again bowl in the same game which has been removed. The score shall be continued in the name of the player beginning the game."

Ratcliffe, of the Klier Wrap team, topped the bowling in the Southern Waxed Paper Company league with his high set of 211. Sands, of the same team, had the high game for the league for Tuesday, 125.

The New Service Engraving Company team won their first two games Tuesday, with United Motors Service Company being the victims. Al Greaves, Royle, Wilkie, M. Allen and M. C. Gwaltney made up the winning combination.

HIT THAT COLD A KNOCK-OUT BLOW!

Don't fool around with a cold. It's dangerous. Take Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. It usually puts a quick end to Mr. Cold because it does four things. It opens the bowels, combats the infection and fever in the system, relieves the headache and grippiness and tones the system. At all drugists.

Woman, Auto Victim, 34, Incurable Pleads for Physician 'Executioner'

Nothing Left in Life But Pain, Misery, Writes Sufferer, "Am Only Burden to Others, Death Would Be a Mercy."

By KENNETH R. MACDONALD,
United Press Staff Correspondent,
BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 12.—(UP)—A frail, 34-year-old woman who lacks the courage to live, and who has pleaded for her sick bed tonight that "a doctor take my life in the name of mercy."

For 749 "horror-filled days" since an automobile accident Miss Anna Becker has lain in her rooming house bed and thought only of the death that might end her pain.

Today she appealed to the Erie County Medical Association for the appointment of a physician to bring her a merciful death. The society said it could not comply with the request.

"A competent physician could certainly kill me with less pain than I endure in an hour," the bed-ridden, pain-wracked woman said. "Now I am not only in agony but am a burden to my friends. No matter what comes afterward, it will be much worse than what I go through now."

Attended only by a physician and her landlady Miss Becker suffers convulsions of pain every day, and every two days and each time lapses into hour-long periods of unconsciousness.

"Her problem is one for her personal physician," Samuel A. Matthiel, executive secretary of the society said. "As far as taking her life to end her misery, that is out of the question. I agree about the only thing we can do is to extend our sympathies."

Miss Becker's plight goes back to October 21, 1933, when she took a taxi cab here. As the cab turned into the street its headlights picked out an unlighted car—speeding directly toward her. She was struck and killed.

She was awarded a $5,000 judgment against an insurance company. The company went into liquidation and Miss Becker has been unable to collect, either from the company or the defendants.

Miss Becker believes her case hopeless while physicians agree that only expensive treatment could hope to restore her to even partial health. She states her case simply: "In the accident I suffered injuries the most serious of which is incurable, my doctor tells me. I am constantly in pain and having nothing left to live for."

"In the name of mercy I ask that a doctor be appointed to take my life. This decision was not made hastily. For 749 horrible days I have thought of death. I would have taken my own life long ago except that it is against my religion and I have lacked the courage."

MINISTERS DIVIDED ON 'MERCY DEATH PLEA'

Miss Mary Garland, beautiful daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Newton Garland, became the bride of Lieutenant James Selser Jr., U. S. A., of Langley Field, Va., at a quiet ceremony yesterday in the rectory of the Sacred Heart church. Father Edward P. Things That Make Women More Beautiful

Care of the Hands in the Cold and Windy Weather

(Posed by Earlene Dietrich.)

When the windy, cold season begins women—especially those who wear evening clothes—must begin to pay some attention to the care of the hands and arms. Girls who work in offices have more trouble with their hands than any other workers because of handling papers and carbons all day. I have discovered something that I think might be of great help. If you find that your hands are becoming rough and red it is worth a five-minute night treatment to correct the fault. When you are all ready for bed wash your hands in very warm soap suds and rinse with warm water.

Next rub in a cream over the hands and up above the elbows, using enough to thoroughly oil the skin. If your skin soaks up the amount you first put on, put on more until there is only a small amount left on the surface which you can wipe off with tissues.

Friendly Counsel
By CAROLINE CHATFIELD.
Problems of general interest submitted by readers are discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name, if desired, will be printed. Write Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD:
I am married a second time to a foreign-born husband whose peculiarities have taxed my endurance. He is selfish and curt and doesn't love people while I am good-natured, affectionate and enjoy friends. I have raised 10 children, seven of my own and three nieces who were orphaned. My husband took a violent dislike to my 17-year-old son and the boy never been welcome in his own mother's home. To eliminate discussion I enlisted him in a CCC camp. He served his six months and is now released. His stepfather refused him room and board so I sent him to his oldest brother in a distant state. My son cannot afford to keep the boy gratis and his arrangement is nearly impossible. I am a filing clerk and just wonder if it isn't my duty to find a position, leave my husband and make a home for this young lad who is at a crucial time in his life. Really my husband's demeanor toward my entire family has made my life miserable. I shall appreciate any advice you have to offer.

UNHAPPY MOTHER.
Answer: Before you take a radical and final step toward separation from your husband, sum up the pros and cons for you to get a position, leave your son where he is and send money to pay for his upkeep? There is always a chance of reconciling differences if tempers are held and finalities are not precipitated. There is generally some way to get a man if he is half-way decent. Then don't give up until you have exhausted every effort to make your husband see that his attitude toward your children is blighting not only your happiness but his as well.

A harried husband went recently to his priest to talk over unresolvable and irreconcilable differences between his second wife and his oldest daughter. When he had told his story the priest said to him: "Why, can't you understand this? It is very simple: Your wife is jealous—not jealous of the daughter, but jealous of the woman in the grave—your first wife." Like a flood the truth burst on him. He hadn't been sympathetic with his wife because he hadn't understood her mental anguish. He had rubbed it in the summer and the two who could never get along together, and had peace in his home once again. Now it is possible that if you reason for your husband's antagonism to your children, you will be able to work out some plan by which all of you can be happy, a plan that will enable you to do your duty by him and the children.

Here Is Nancy's Old Standby—a Hand Lotion That Is Not Sticky.

By FLORENCE La GANKE.

The first cold days found Nancy taking good care of her hands. She had found that all the embroidery and quilt making that she did, not to mention the bridge playing, required that she have hands that looked as if they had not toiled nor spun. She wanted to have soft white hands the whole year round. Of course, she had to be careful of the skin during the winter months and she had to be careful of the skin during the winter months and she had to be careful of the skin during the winter months.

By having a bottle of hand lotion at the sink in the kitchen, a bottle in the downstairs lavatory and another in the upstairs bedroom she discovered that she was more systematic in its use. After washing her hands in mild soap suds she wiped them dry and then rubbed a little of this lotion in the palms of her hand. She rubbed the other one in and it worked her fingers to the tips rubbing in the soft liquid as she rubbed. Soon it all disappeared with no trace of stickiness. Here is her recipe for the lotion.

Go to the drug store and get one ounce of quince seeds. Soak them in water overnight and use freely. The mixture of one-half cup water. Let the mixture cool to lukewarm temperature. Measure 12 ounces witch-hazel and dissolve one ounce boric acid in this. Then add eight ounces glycerine. Now put all this in with lukewarm water and seeds. Next day strain the liquid and add to it about one teaspoon oil of lavender and one-half teaspoon extract rose geranium. Put into small bottles and use freely. All of the ingredients may be purchased at the drug store. The liquid is almost colorless and thin enough so that it works in well in the skin. Rub it well and then cork the bottle for the next installment that comes after hands are washed and wiped well.

Culbertson on Contract

By ELY CULBERTSON,
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

Courage of Conviction.

"That was a pretty close double, professor. If your partner had chosen any other opening lead, I would have made my contract easily," was the mild criticism of an opponent in a recent game.

"Ah, my friend," I answered, "I knew he would make the best lead!" And there you have the secret of many a successful partnership.

In the particular hand in question, my double was close, and I would not have dreamed of making it with an ordinary player as a partner. On the contrary, I often have refrained from doubling a hand simply because I felt sure that an unimaginative partner would kill one of our tricks on his first lead.

Proper leading calls not only for vision but for courage. Many a player longingly fingers a certain card in his hand, feeling almost sure that it should be led, but because of this or that ancient taboo, cravenly replaces it.

A "Marked" Lead.
West, on the hand shown below, had no bridge inhibitions. He listened carefully to the bidding, considered his own major holding, and unerringly selected the one lead to defeat an otherwise impregnable contract.

Both sides vulnerable.

The Bidding:
1♥ Pass 2NT Pass
3♥ Pass 4♥ (final bid)

West, on lead, felt sure that desperate measures were necessary. His holding in diamonds and clubs was not only weak but their comparative length made it appear unlikely that many tricks could be garnered in either suit. North was marked with some spade strength—possibly would be king-jack. West therefore opened a small spade, and declarer, not unnaturally, guessed wrong. He played the jack from dummy. East's queen won, and two clubs and another spade were cashed. On any other opening, North's fourth diamond would have afforded a spade trick, making a game question.

QUESTION: Is three hearts doubled and made, game? Or must a player bid a full game?

Answer: The effect of the double is to double the value of each trick. Tricks bid for count toward game; if doubled, their full doubled value is scored. Thus, two spades or hearts doubled and made count twice 60 points—more than enough for game. Two clubs or diamonds doubled count twice 40 points—not enough for game.

WHAT IS MEANT BY 8th WOMAN

One word explains her confidence

You probably know at least one woman who is never at a disadvantage, never breaks engagements, never declines dances (unless she wants to) and whose spirits never seem to droop.

If you'd ask her, how she does it, you'd probably find she is that eighth woman who relies on Midol. Eight million women once suffered regularly every month. Had difficult days when they must save themselves and favor themselves, or pay the penalty. But a million have accepted the relief of Midol.

Why be a regular martyr to pain month after month? Compelled to favor yourself and save yourself on certain days.

Midol is effective even when the pain has caught you unaware and has reached its height. It's effective for hours, so two tablets should see you through your worst day. They do not contain any narcotic.

Baskets filled with white chrysanthemums beautified the altar, which was graced with 11-branched brass candelabra holding white tapers. Baskets filled with bronze chrysanthemums were placed on either side of the steps leading to the altar, and in front of the chancel rail. An arrangement of palms added an effective note to the church decorations.

Joseph Ragan, the organist, rendered appropriate musical selections preceding and during the ceremony, and the bridal chorus from Wagner's Lohengrin, heralded the entrance of the bride party. Ushers were Dr. F. G. Hodgson, Robert W. Davis, Lewis Gordon, of Miami, Fla., and Hutchins Hodgson.

The bride's younger sister, Miss Nancy Collier, was maid of honor, and wore a Lanvin model of green crepe designed with a gold lame bodice. Her green velvet hat was trimmed with small gold peaches and she carried a bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums tied with matching ribbons. Mrs. Charles B. Daniel, another sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and was gowning in green crepe, the bodice being fashioned of silver lame. Her green velvet hat was trimmed with small silver peaches and she carried a bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums tied with matching ribbons.

Beautiful Bride.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Charles B. Daniel, with whom she entered the church and they were met at the altar by the bridegroom and his best men, his brothers, Prince Gordon, of Philadelphia, and Hugh Gordon III, of Miami. The bride's beauty was enhanced by her gown of lustrous white satin, fashioned on princess lines, the long skirt flaring in a graceful train. The bodice introduced the becoming cowl neckline and was fastened in the back with small white satin buttons. The long sleeves ended in points over her hands and were trimmed with small white satin buttons extending from the elbows to the wrists.

The bride wore a real lace veil which was fastened to her way brown hair with a bandeau of orange blossoms extending across the back of her head and clusters of orange blossoms were arranged on either side. The veil belonged to Mrs. F. G. Hodgson, who wore it at her wedding, and it was worn by Mrs. Hugh Gordon Jr., the bridegroom's mother, and Mrs. Ruth, of the bride's family, and Mrs. Van Winkle Jr. when they married. She carried a bouquet of white and red lilies tied with white satin ribbon.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:

Sugar Friddle is the same given to a founding at the Lorian orphanage in Virginia by Sophia Friddle, the superintendent. When Sugar is 17, "Mother" Friddle places her as a maid for Mrs. Dick Le Masters' 2-year-old boy, Skeeter. She promises to wait for Johnny De Ville, an orphan just her age, until he becomes a great success. Her room in the big Le Masters house is in the cellar and her wages are 13 a week. She is found there by Dick's brother, Carter, when he returned from college where he is football captain, and he and Dick move her to the nursery, causing a family squabble. On Sugar's first day off Mrs. Le Masters' 17-year-old sister, Zane Lou Langworthy, catches her in silk dress and white pumps. Sugar's light heels hurt her feet, and she accepts a lift from Scoop O'Reilly, New York newspaperman. She rebuffs his attempts at love-making but they become friends when she tells him about herself. Carter kisses her but apologizes when she weeps. Zane, wishing to meet Scoop, arranges a dinner and dancing for which Skeeter is invited. Johnny, who has found a job in a theater, is angry when Sugar tells him she has a date on her night off. Zane is jealous of Skeeter's attentions to Sugar and an unkind proposal drops in on Scoop. Father Le Masters himself on Sugar and is kissing her when Carter appears with Nancy Carter. Johnny drives Sugar home. He tries to explain the social distinctions in town like Lorian and warns her against him. She sees Scoop's car after mailing a letter to Johnny. NOW GO ON WITH THIS STORY.

INSTALLMENT XIX.

She sighed. Life was becoming so complex.

"It's a awful good of you to offer to help me, Scoop. But I'll be all right. I'd be frightened to death in New York, even with you there."

"You could board with my Aunt Bridget," he offered. "My sister Marge stays with her. She's a lot like you. You two would hit it off great."

All doubt was dispelled from Sugar's mind as to Scoop's intentions. She smiled with relief.

"If anything happens I might take you up on that."

"Great!" Scoop grinned. "Now I feel better. If you lose your job, you let me take you to Aunt Bridget. Is that a bargain?"

"Shake!" Sugar held out her hand, and got up. "It's time to take the lamb chile back for his bath. It'll soon be supper time."

"It sure is a relief to know you have forgiven me," Scoop said as he strolled along beside her. "And to know you're going to let Uncle Reilly take care of you if the old gal gives you the shivers."

"It's nice to know I have an Uncle Reilly."

"Take it now, and save your breath."

"Egg!" Sugar grinned affectionately. "How do you like your new job?"

"Great!" Wait till you see some of the signs I've painted. They'll knock your eye out. Going to do some posing for me?"

"Next Thursday," Sugar promised. "I'll get off about two in the afternoon. Is it a date?"

"It better be," Johnny frowned severely, but his eyes were gay. "Gosh, it'll be nice to see you! I get paid Thursday and I'll blow you to dinner. How about it?"

"Thank you so much, kind sir," Sugar made a little curtsy.

"They were at the Le Masters' gate. Johnny gave a low whistle.

"Boy, is this a cute little shack you live in! How many rooms?"

"Only 20," Sugar apologized. "This is our townhouse. We're thinking of building on. Wait till you see our country place."

Johnny suddenly waxed serious.

"Are they good to you, Sugar? Are you happy there?"

"Don't I look as though I'm getting along all right?" she evaded, picking Skeeter up to hide her confusion. "Haven't I got my Skeeter lamb?"

"It must be about time to pay the preacher again. I heard Cousin Ed complain about his sermons like he was getting his alibi ready." (Copyright, 1935, for The Constitution.)

THE ROCK OF GIBRALTAR

If you should talk with one of the British soldiers on the Rock of Gibraltar, he might tell you that the place has great storerooms of food—enough to last for a long siege. Perhaps he would not explain why pains are taken to keep a good supply of food, but the reason is written in history. Once there was a long! long siege!

The name Gibraltar means "Mount Tarik," or "Rock of Tarik." It was so named in honor of a Moorish leader who built a castle there 1,200 years ago.

The siege dragged on for three years and six months. At the end of the third year, a direct attack on the Rock was tried by ten ships which were covered "six or seven feet thick with green timber bolted with iron, cork, and the windmills of the cannon balls of the British did not cut through the "wooden armor" of the ships for several hours; but then the British began to use red-hot shot.

During the afternoon and the night, the battle went on. One by one the ships were set afire, and before noon the next day all were blown up or burned to the water's edge.

At last a peace treaty was made, and it was agreed that the British should keep Gibraltar.

The side of Gibraltar are steep cliffs, which drop from 300 to 1,000 feet. Some of the tunnels in the Rock were cut during the long siege, and others have been made since. One tunnel is almost half a mile long. Guns can be fired through holes at the ends of these tunnels with little danger to the men who handle them.

THERE IS NO HARM IN SLEEPING IN THE MOONLIGHT

There is an old superstition that moonlight has something to do with insanity. Because the ancients believed this, they called insane people "lunatics" (meaning moonstruck). They believed that sleeping in the direct rays of a full moon would cause people to lose their minds; and that each time the moon became full thereafter the mental disturbance was worse. At this has been exploded by modern medical research, and there appears to be no relation whatever between insanity and moonlight. (Copyright, 1935, for The Constitution.)

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 12.—(P)—Cotton futures today spurted from $1.81 1/2 to a high of $1.85 1/2, then fell to $1.81 1/2, and closed at $1.81 1/2. The market that the northern section of the belt was in the grip of a cold wave.

Freezing temperatures were reported over a wide area and this coupled with excessive rains in other sections resulted in traders believing the crop had received a major setback. The net gainings of cotton showed that Oklahoma, north Texas and Arkansas were far behind with this year's yield, and this was the area where the cold and rain settled today.

Another bullish factor was the continued heavy exports and the report that domestic spinners had entered the cotton futures market to fill commitments. With an exceedingly low basis existing in the primary markets and an actual scarcity of cotton in some regions, mills are protecting future sales of cotton by buying cotton on the exchange.

The December position gained 24 points today to finish at 11.50. January was up 25 points to 11.55, while final prices of 11.47 for March, 11.45 for May and 11.47 for the 1935 October option showed good-sized advances.

Considerable foreign buying appeared in the market today. This was attributed to good gains made by foreign growers and the relatively early holiday as well as a growing belief abroad that the American cotton crop will show a decline from early estimates.

Since the release of the last government crop estimate there has been an important reversal in speculative sentiment. Professional and some public interest has switched to the bull side of dealings, and with hedging pressure lifted from options the market had made good gains in the last five or six sessions.

By advancing 24 points at New Orleans, middling reached an even 12-cent level.

THE TARZAN TWINS No. 63

With a vial of potent poison concealed in his bony hand, Intamo haunted the place where the evening meal was to be prepared for the white boys and their two fellow prisoners. "It was I who sent Tarzan to his doom," he chuckled, "and now his kin shall die!"

... But Tarzan was not dead! Bantu, the Bagalla messenger, had been too hasty in his conclusions. When mad Gudah, the giant elephant, brought down his foot to crush his victim into the dust, the agile Tarzan twirled his body just in time to avoid the fatal blow.

Once more the ape-man rose to his feet and ran desperately for the lone tree, his only hope of refuge in all this dismal, sun-baked Vale of Death. Gudah's surprise enabled Tarzan to gain a slight lead, but soon the mad beast was bearing down upon him in frantic pursuit.

Despite his lameness, the Jungle Lord ran swiftly, summoning from his muscles the very peak of their electric energy. But the terrible Gudah was no less determined to claim the victim which had eluded him. This was a race of Titans, with the result in gravest doubt!
